School cost squeeze; cut size of staff

Granite City's Board of Education tentatively adopted a $22,776,982 budget for the July 1976-June 1977 fiscal year Tuesday night, charting spending of $266,299 more than the final 1975-76 budget of $22,480,683.

Final budget and tax levy actions are scheduled immediately after a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 7 in the board office.

Estimating that the Community Unit District Nine assessment of $221,354.636 will grow to $225 million, school administrators said the proposed $8,451,953 property tax levy may generate a rate of $3.7555 per $100 valuation, compared to the present $3.729 rate.

They noted that the $266,299 budget rise is dwarfed by the $800,873 increase a year ago and the $2,082,327 budget climb two years ago.

Supt. Bob J. Davis described the future beyond the 1976-77 year as "uncertain."

He added, "With inflationary pressures and with the financial base stabilizing or possibly lowering, our fiscal condition continues to decline."

The $22,776,982 tentative new budget consists of $19,220,291 for education, up $209,183; $1,186,000 for operations, building and maintenance, down $36,375; $1,087,030 for bonds and interest, same as in 1975-76; $682,661 for transportation, up $56,511; and $601,000 for municipal retirement, up $37,000.

The rate utilized for this year's tax collection, $3.729, consists of $2.55 for education, 37.5 cents for operations, 12 cents for transportation, 25.45 cents for municipal retirement and 42.95 cents for bonds and interest.

Supt. Davis estimates that the first three tax rates will remain the same, retirement will rise 2.99 cents to 28.44 cents and bonds and interest will drop 34-cent to 42.61 to account for the overall rise of 2.65 cents to a new school district rate of $3.7555.

New tax levies for next year's collection are projected at $5,757,500 education, $845,750 operations, $270,000 transportation, $642,000 retirement and $960,710 bonds, totaling $8,451,953.

Levies extended a year ago for this summer's tax bills amounted to $8,254,314, including $5,644,543 education, $830,079 operations, $265,625 transportation, $563,347 retirement and $950,719 bonds.

The superintendent told the FUEL STOP AT TRI-CITY PORT. The grand lady of the rivers, the Delta Queen, now in her 50th year of operation, took on fuel at the Tri-City Regional Port early Tuesday enroute to New Orleans. The last of the wooden paddle wheelers, she is scheduled for retirement Nov. 1, 1978. The Delta Queen travels the Mississippi and the Ohio rivers with her home port in Cincinnati, Ohio. She carries 195 passengers. The hull is steel, but the structure of the ship is wood. A new $22 million steamboat, the "Mississippi Queen," will replace her and is to make a stop at the local port on Monday, Sept. 27.

Good and bad news on health topics

The good news on the health front this week is that 1976 has brought no recurrence of last year's St. Louis Encephalitis outbreak that took 47 lives in Illinois. Carried by birds, the disease is transmitted to humans by mosquitoes that bite the birds.

The bad news is that this state's immunization program against swine flu won't begin until early October, nearly two months later than scheduled. The vaccine is not yet available from the U.S. Public Health Service, and initial injections will go to high-risk persons.

No defection problems at 1980 Olympics

Russia's Reds are red-faced with anger over the defection in Montreal of a 17-year-old Soviet diver who had competed in the XXI Olympiad. Communists also are unhappy with Canada for allowing other Iron Curtain countries' athletes to refuse to return to their native lands.

The Communists' "problem" has been solved for the next summer Olympics four years from now. The competition will be held in Moscow.

Weather outlook for this region

Increasing cloudiness this afternoon and tonight with thundershowers likely by evening. High today about 90. Low tonight in the low 60s. Partly cloudy and cool Friday with high about 80. Chance of thundershowers Saturday through Monday with highs in the 80s and lows in the 60s.

Violent past in Southern Illinois

(3rd of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)

The post-World War II era in the Quad-Cities brought an unsuccessful but persistent attempt by the Wortman gangster faction to establish a base of operations centered around gambling casinos.

More notorious were the earlier Shelton and Birger gangland activity and other violence well south of here.

A Sangamon State University researcher comments that "Illinoisans frequently found strength and unity in the diversity of their backgrounds and interests, but sometimes their differences reached a flashpoint of violence and strife."

Debate phone franchise

A new franchise agreement for the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. will be developed by negotiations between telephone company officials and a special Granite City Council committee, it was decided by the council Tuesday night.

A decision to defer franchise action until additional terms can be discussed was made after the aldermen agreed to take no immediate action on a proposed franchise document submitted by the utility for council consideration in Tuesday night's meeting.

The present franchise agreement expires Aug. 20. While the proposed agreement submitted by the utility increases from 25 to 102 the number of telephones to be provided for city use without basic service charges, some aldermen maintained the city should receive substantially more benefit than provided in the document.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward, asked City Clerk Robert Stevens if the city now pays toll charges for calls beyond the regular scope of basic charges, and was told that it does.

Whitmer replied that he believed the city should receive a substantial allotment of service without charge, including a specified amount for

BICENTENNIAL MOSAIC PROJECT. The Granite City Bicentennial Commission and Downtown Granite City, Inc., are cooperating in a mosaic project for beautification of the downtown area and as a memorial to the United States Bicentennial. Studying suggested designs are, from left, Rudy Novik, president of Downtown GC, Inc.; Charles Walker, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville graduate art student; Victor Connor, sculptor; Stephen Pellock and Richard Hutton, both artists and graduate students at SIUE; and Casper S. Nighoghossian, commission chairman. The mosaic project will consist of two 12-foot concrete benches with three panel spaces on the back of each for the mosaics. A pyramid structure, also concrete, with four spaces for mosaics, will be located between the benches as illustrated at right. The mosaics will depict the growth and development of the area. The graduate students will meet with the Bicentennial Commission for final approval of the mosaics and project design. The Commission will then present the project to the City Council for final approval.

30-hour benefit marathon starts Friday at Tri-Mor

Comedian Stubby Kaye, professional bowler Tom Hennessey, a member of the Bowling Hall of Fame, and Charlotte Peters, widely-known television personality, will make personal appearances to aid the Muscular Dystrophy Fund at a 30-hour marathon, scheduled Friday and Saturday at Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl, 3701 Nameoki Road.

Six games booths, talent and fashion shows, and musical groups in a rock-a-thon also are planned during the fund-raising bowling bee, which begins at 6 p.m. Friday and continues through midnight Saturday.

Tony Sodi, Tri-Mor Center manager, said today.

Helping to entertain those attending will be the Checkerboard Squares and pupils from the National School of Music, both local organizations.

A team of local bowlers will appear in blindfolds for a match game at 10 p.m. Friday. The public will be invited to contribute 35 cents to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund to watch the unusual contest.

Similar charitable events have been sponsored at Tri-Mor Bowl in previous years, but plans for this weekend's marathon far exceed the others, Sodi pointed out.

"The whole thing has snowballed and promises to be a star-studded event," he added. Activities will take place inside the bowling center and on the adjacent parking lot area.

A magic show, pony rides and pony and buggy rides will compete for donations with a dunkin' machine, cake walk, car wash and special tournaments for bowlers.

The "Bolo Off" tournament will start at 8 a.m. Saturday, with final matches at 7 p.m. Individuals wishing to participate in the tournament are invited to contact Sodi or Glenn Staggis, at 451-7800, prior to Saturday.

All area residents are invited to come in and bowl at half price from 12:01 a.m. Saturday until midnight the same day, Sodi said.

Proceeds from all activities will go directly to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund, he explained.

Stands erected in the parking area will feature handcraft items, barbecue sandwiches, snowcones and popcorn. Rock music will brighten the scene, provided by different bands.

Stubby Kaye will appear at the benefit marathon at 2 p.m. Saturday. He currently is starring in the "God's Favorite" production at The Barn Dinner Theater in Butler, Mo.

Kaye will be followed at 4 p.m. Saturday by Hennessey, a professional bowler who now lives in St. Louis, who has made his mark in the bowling world during many successful seasons as a professional.

Hennessey holds numerous top bowling titles and is a member of the Budweiser team and the Hall of Fame.

A band will launch the activities at 6 p.m. Friday, with booths to start operating at the same hour.

The Checkerboard Squares will continue the entertainment at 8 p.m. Dancers in the troupe will seek audience participation during their performance and are hoping to present a continuous show until 3 a.m. Saturday, Sodi announced.

The blindfolded bowling match will take place at 10 p.m. Friday and half-price bowling will commence at midnight.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served at 7 a.m. Saturday and the "Bolo Off" tournament will start at 8 a.m. WGNU Radio's party line interviews will be broadcast from the center from 10 a.m. until noon.

Charlotte Peters will arrive at 11 a.m. Saturday, remaining for an indefinite period to help spur donations to the charitable project, the manager said.

Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City, Mayor Mike Saayk of Madison, Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice and Mayor Floyd D. Moss of Ponton Beach will make personal appearances at the event.

A goal of $5,000 has been set for this year's Muscular Dystrophy marathon, Sodi announced. The top amount collected previously was $3,200.

Men and women who bowl in leagues at Tri-Mor Center have volunteered their services to operate the special booths and related activities, Sodi said.

Others willing to help are being asked to contact him at the center.

The local benefit is being staged in conjunction with the Jerry Lewis national telethon from St. Louis.

GC schools borrow $500,000

The Granite City school district today sold one-half million dollars in tax anticipation warrants to meet tomorrow's payroll and the payroll for Aug. 13.

The warrants must be repaid from new taxes to be received this month before any of the tax money can be spent for other purposes.

Tully A. Heubner, director of business affairs for the school district, told the Granite City Board of Education at its regular meeting Tuesday night that funds on hand were insufficient to meet the next two payrolls.

He said the $500,000 being borrowed is less than the amount he had thought would be required to "tide over" the district until sufficient new tax revenues are received, primarily due to delinquent tax payments on 1972, 73 and 74 taxes he received last week, and some new taxes already distributed by the township tax collectors.

Heubner noted late billing and collection of taxes, the $500,000 cut in state aid Gov. Dan Walker imposed last year and a $300,000 loss of state aid due to a drop in enrollment combined to cause the temporary financial shortage.

Heubner said substantial tax distributions are expected from the township collectors next week and the district is hoping for a state aid payment the middle of this month. The majority of the taxes, however, is not expected to be distributed until after the Sept. 1 collection deadline.

Additional borrowing this month, however, is not anticipated, Heubner said. The board Tuesday night gave its approval to the sale of the tax anticipation warrants and details were completed this morning with local financial institutions.

Street crews clean up debris from windstorm

Granite City street crews will pick up brush and tree limbs accumulated as a result of the July 28 wind and electrical storm if householders will place the debris by the curb so trucks may make pickups, Street Superintendent Lionel Portell said Wednesday.

Portell said the storm damage to trees and bushes was extremely heavy in the Community Heights, Lincoln Place and Maryville Road areas, but was general throughout the city in varying degrees. He said street workers will take from five to six weeks to complete cleanup work and the job of picking up brush from homes.

Granite Cityans could do themselves and the city a service by making proper selection of trees for future plantings, Portell noted. He said that soft wood trees such as mulberry, Chinese elm, poplars and tree of paradise splinter easily and are subject to extensive damage in windstorms.

In planting trees in yards and on city right-of-way, householders would benefit by selecting such trees as oak, hard maples, flowering crabapples and other hardwood trees that are not so readily subject to storm damage, Portell said.

Dealers plan protest on mechanics' strike

The Madison-St. Clair Counties Auto Dealers Association expects to file a protest this week with the National Labor Relations Board in an effort to halt a strike by mechanics and parts men at new car dealerships in Illinois.

Barney Birger, association president and owner of BBS Motor Co., Collinsville, said this morning the action is to be taken immediately through the NLRB.

A strike by members of District 9, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, began Monday and is affecting about 2,400 mechanics and parts men in more than 140 dealerships in the St. Louis area of Missouri and Illinois. About 450 men work in 46 of the auto dealerships in Illinois.

The work stoppage was called after the mechanics voted by a 2 to 1 margin against a proposed agreement in balloting Sunday at Bridgerton, Mo.

Birger said that although the Madison-St. Clair dealers group successfully negotiated a contract as a separate entity, the men are bound by the overall vote of the union membership.

He said a new three-year contract was signed earlier by both the local area association and union. "The men on this side were very satisfied with the new agreement, all it needed was ratification," Birger said.

He said the new contract calls for an annual wage of $3,200, plus fringe benefits, over a three-year period. "It is unfair that about 450 District 9 members and more than 200 Teamsters employed in Illinois are unable to work due to a vote of St. Louis members," he commented.

The contract rejected by the membership Sunday had been recommended by the union's bargaining committee, according to Joseph F. Contini, directing business representative of District 9.

Service operations at most new car dealerships have been suspended since pickets arrived outside the firms at 9 a.m. Monday.

Repair services and sales are not interrupted by the strike at Granite City Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., 19th Street and Grand Avenue, where union mechanics are continuing on the job.

Mat Matson, president of the Chrysler-Plymouth dealership, said today, "Business is as usual" at his firm. "We have no problem with the union."

He said that members of the Madison-St. Clair Dealers Association. "We are privileged to negotiate and sign our own contract with IAMAW District 9."

Some dealers who are not association members elected to close their shops Monday to avoid being struck, Birger said.

News notes

A suit by a demoted East St. Louis school administrator may provide a court test of the Illinois attorney general's ruling against board members having spouses employed in their school district.

W. Daking Williams of Collinsville and his Independent American Party runningmates mustered 22,200 signatures but fell 1,000 short at the deadline Monday evening of the number needed to file for candidacy on the Nov. 2 state ballot.

Miller was charged here with unlawful use of a weapon, violating city property, illegal transportation of alcohol, not having a driver's license, reckless driving, fleeing from police, and exceeding the speed limit.

His bond was set at $5,000 and he was released to sheriff's deputies who took him to the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville for questioning. Officers allege he admitted robbing Burner's, a woman's clothing store at 104 North Main St., Edwardsville, at 10:20 a.m.

A clerk there said a man entered and appeared to be shopping. She offered assistance and the man said he was looking for something to purchase for his wife for their anniversary. He then opened a green zipper bag and displayed a shotgun with the barrel sawed-off very short, according to the clerk.

He ordered store employees to empty the cash registers and left with about $70 cash.

Patrolman Hoffman was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for pain to his left shoulder and neck suffered during the arrest and he was released after treatment.

In addition to the charges filed by Granite City police, Miller was charged by Edwardsville city police with armed robbery and unlawful use of a weapon.

Ethnic highlights at '76 state fair

New exhibits at the Illinois State Fair, Aug. 12-22, will celebrate the past and delve into the future.

A tribute to the state's ethnic heritage, a display on aviation and an exhibit on modern uses of energy are just a few of the planned additions at this year's fair in Springfield.

So much is scheduled for Freedom Fair '76 that one extra day has been added to the festivities, making the fair 11 days long.

One new feature will be Heritage Square, an 80,000-square-foot tract across from the grandstand that will be a marketplace for traditional ethnic cuisine and handicrafts. A stage in Heritage Square will be the setting for performances by various singing and dancing ensembles.

Foods will range from Tandoori chicken, a spicy Indian concoction relatively uncommon in this country, to Swedish ginger cookies and coffee cake that have been virtually assimilated in the American diet.

German-American, Philippine, Italian and Serbian foods, prepared and offered for sale by the representative ethnic groups, will also be available at Heritage Square.

Arts and crafts from Columbian, Lithuanian, Puerto Rican, Polish-American, Serbian, Swedish and Middle East groups also will be on sale. The dancing and music will include performances ranging from Ukrainian, Philippine and Japanese folk dancing to American banjo music.

One section of Heritage Square will be reserved for a photographic display of ethnic traditions and early immigrants in Illinois.

The last Saturday of the fair, Aug. 21, has been designated Ethnic Illinois Day, with special town-meeting discussions scheduled in the Early Illinois Building.

The Aviation Tent, featuring antique, home-built, corporate and military aircraft, will be in the maximum security area of the grandstand infield.

Two maverick designers, Beardstown brothers Russell and Francis Halligan, will exhibit their unique vertical flying designs with the home-built aircraft.

Included in their display will be a 50-year-old working aircraft and plexiglass models of other designs. The Halligans have said they foresee vertical aircraft as a safe and inexpensive means of transportation for the future.

The Navy will present a history of naval aviation, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will have a general aviation exhibit and the U. S. Army Aviation System Command plans an air and spacecraft exhibit. Medals will demonstrate the airlifting of trauma victims and other emergency applications for aircraft.

Cessna, Lewis Research Center, John Klumut and his Carville Coptors and the Illinois Air National Guard.

Jointly with the Civil Air Patrol, also plan displays at the Aviation Tent.

Another new feature at the fair will be the Energy Tent, entitled "Energy in Illinois." Located across from the Folk Festival Beer Garden, the tent will house several exhibits on the use of solar energy.

One exhibit from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture's Department of Engineering, deals with use of solar energy in grain drying. M-7, an Arlington Heights firm, plans an exhibit on converting the sun's power to electricity.

An automobile of the future, a fully-electric Pinto, will be showcased by Linear Alpha, Inc. Other exhibits will demonstrate coal gasification and energy conservation.

A traveling photographic exhibit, "Forgotten Contributions: Women in Illinois History," will be in the Early Illinois Building. Consisting of 25 photos, complete with captions and historical text, the exhibit will be on display.

Saturday swim fee set at 10 cents

Granite City Park District residents will be able to swim at Wilson Park pool from 1 to 8 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 7, for the admission fee of ten cents, according to Harold Brown, park superintendent.

Non-residents will be required to pay 25 cents for the all day session, Brown added.

Exclamation 9.11 — "I returned, and saw under the sun, that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong..."

The fact that the race is not to the swift should instruct us in wisdom. The Christian is in a race for sure, but wisdom tells us NOT to run ourselves to death trying to win. The ideal is of course, to be found running when Christ returns.

According to Bible teaching we are already winners if we hold our faith until the end. We have victory through Christ and this is a victory that cannot be taken away from us. Believe in HIM. Today.

display will focus on the role of women in tumultuous social movements between 1890 and 1920.

Rebecca Sive-Tomashefsky of the Institute on Pluralism and Group Identity, which is sponsoring the exhibit with the Illinois Bicentennial Commission and the fair, said that era was chosen because the major theme of the display is social activism.

"The exhibit offers a dramatic look at the experience of women in organizing and social welfare," she said. "We're not trying to highlight famous personalities, but the experience of masses of women."

Another new attraction with a Bicentennial theme is the quilting exhibit. More than 100 quilts from church groups, organizations and independent exhibitors, each depicting an historical moment, will be on display in the Exposition Building.

A special display on the south balcony of the Exposition Building salutes the statewide 4-H clubs. The "4-H Expo" will include a series of information booths and "how to" craft demonstrations, including exhibits designed by the University of Illinois College of Fine and Applied Arts and the College of Agriculture.

The four major areas of the 4-H Expo are animals, horticulture, arts and crafts and home economics. Among the demonstrations will be dog obedience, flower arranging, cartoon drawing, macrame, bread dough sculpture and international cooking.

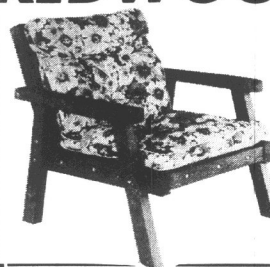

Traditionally, the State Fair sponsors a bake-off, and this year two new categories have been added. Peach dishes will be judged in the Illinois peach cookery division, while novelty red-white-and-blue desserts and hand-made recipes will be entered in a Bicentennial dessert division.

Proclamation salutes Navy Mothers Club 850

Service to members of the U. S. Armed Forces by the Quad-City Navy Mothers Club 850 was recognized in a proclamation signed Monday by Mayor Paul Schuler.

Mrs. Edna Miller, Club 850 commander, and Mrs. Jean Teller, adjutant, were present for the signing in the mayor's office.

A special period is being observed through Aug. 15 by the National Navy Mothers Clubs of America.

As part of the celebration, a window display is being arranged this week, detailing work of the local Navy Mothers club, at Carroll's Fashions, 1315 Nineteenth St., Mrs. Miller reported.

The Quad-City unit has a current membership of 48, the commander said.

The official document signed by Mayor Schuler asks that all citizens pay respect and honor to these mothers who have helped and are helping in this great work.

The proclamation reads in part:

Whereas: The Navy Mothers Clubs of America, Club 850 of Granite City, deserves a warm salute of sincere thanks from all the citizens of Granite City for its many years of faithful work and helpful services to the servicemen and women of this area, and

Whereas: They work untiringly and unselfishly in the Naval and Veterans' hospitals and installations through the country, and

Whereas: The purposes of this organization are charitable and educational to promote a friendly and sympathetic relationship among the parents of the men and women in the United States Navy, United States Marine Corps and the United States Coast Guard, and

Whereas: They collect and disseminate information relating to the services and the manner of living and environment of the personnel, and

Whereas: They cultivate a respectful and cordial attitude of civilians toward the men and women in any branch of the United States Navy, United States Marine Corps and United States Coast Guard, and

Whereas: It is a real pleasure to recognize the Navy Mothers Club in setting aside a period to call attention to our citizens of the many outstanding services this organization renders to our city, state and country.

Now, Therefore, I, Paul Schuler, Mayor of Granite City, do hereby proclaim from this 2nd day of August 1976 as Navy Mothers Week in Granite City and ask that all citizens pay respect and honor to these mothers who have helped and are helping in this great work."

Post 113 powers way to division championship, state tourney berth

"It's just great," gleams Tri-City American Legion Post 113 member Conrad "Babe" Champion, commenting on his baseball squad's 17-5 win over Harrisburg Monday night at Steelville for the Legion's Fifth Division tournament title. Tri-City's first state tourney game will be Aug. 12.

"You talk about most valuable player," he adds, "when everyone in the lineup collects hits in a single game, they are all valuable."

The local Legionnaires, 22nd District champions, had assured themselves of a berth in the division championship game with three straight victories, and was awaiting the outcome of a game Monday afternoon between Harrisburg and Freeman Spur to determine the title game opponent.

Harrisburg defeated Freeman Spur 4-3 but was no match for the hot bats of Tri-City players, who collected 19 hits while pitchers Kirk Champion and Paul Evans held the opposition to five safeties. Champion got the win, going five innings and yielding three hits before being relieved by Evans.

Harrisburg opened the contest with a run in the first inning, but in the next frame the Tri-City bats came alive, highlighted by two homers netting seven runs. Back-to-back hits by Kirk Champion and Randy Smith started the second-inning action, and with one out Joe Parente on the first pitch knocked the ball 380 feet out of the park.

"That gave us an early boost," comments Champion, "but what transpired next was the straw that broke the camel's back."

Tom Hennrich reached on an error, Jeff Scarborough singled, Keith Champion drew a walk and John Pritchard sent the ball sailing over the right centerfield fence for a "grand slam" homer.

Tri-City added another run in that inning when Eldon Warfield and Kirk Champion got hits, Mike Clark reached on a fielder's choice that retired Warfield, and a throwing error enabled Randy Smith to reach base and Champion to score.

Post 113 made the score 9-1 in the fourth. Warfield walked, Kirk Champion singled, Clark reached on a fielder's choice that retired Champion, and Randy Smith drove in a run on a groundout.

Three more runners made it home in the top of the fifth. Hennrich singled, Scarborough walked and his by each Keith Champion and Pritchard drove in runs before a sacrifice fly enabled another run to be scored.

Harrisburg struggled back in the half of the fifth with two runs for a 12-3 tally, but Tri-City matched those runs in the sixth. Smith singled, Joe Parente doubled him home, Scarborough got an infield hit and Pritchard singled.

Not satisfied with a 14-3 lead, Tri-City pushed across three more runs in the seventh innings as Paul Evans reached on an error and Clark singled. Hits by Smith and Hennrich drove in runs and Scarborough's groundout to the shortstop enabled Smith to score.

Harrisburg got two runs off Evans in the ninth before he retired the side. Tri-City, winner in 12 of its last 14 games, heads into state competition at Springfield's Lamphier Park with a 20-9

Legion record. The double elimination tourney is set for Aug. 11-15, with Post 113 playing a yet-to-be-decided Division One champion out of the Chicago area at 1 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 12.

A victory then would place the Legionnaires in a second game Aug. 12 at 8 p.m.

"Harrisburg was a tough competitor," says Champion. "After losing 5-3 to us last week, the team had stayed in contention through wins in the loser bracket."

He noted Harrisburg's ability to stage a comeback. "They were losing 9-1 against pre-tourney favorite Carlyle and eventually won that contest, 10-9."

Tri-City's Tom Hennrich was named by American Legion officials as the tournament's most valuable player. Hennrich collected eight hits in 19 trips to the plate in four games.

Citing the entire team for its hitting prowess, Champion singled out Pritchard as an example.

"Johnny had only two hits in the tourney until Monday, and in this crucial game collected three hits and batted in seven runs."

A state tournament championship would earn Tri-City a berth in a five-state Midwest regional meet Aug. 18-22, with the regional victor playing in the American Legion "world series" Aug. 25-29 at Manchester, N.H.

FIRST-YEAR TITLISTS. These Lombardi Interior players, members of the Granite City Park District Little League, captured their division title with an 11-1 record. The team is nicknamed the Sweethearts. This was the initial season of a girls' softball program for non-high-school age athletes. Members of the Lombardi team (from left) are, kneeling: Diane Ashal, Stacy Thomas, Nancy Dimitroff, Nancy Simpson, Leigh Ballew and Rita Novosel; second row, Shelly Sullivan, Beth Hein, Laura Ferris, Marcia Conary, Vicki Smith and Robin York. Standing behind the players are Manager Kathy Green and Coaches Nancy Ballew and Donna York. Charlie's Little Sluggers were second in the league standings, the Dynamos third and the Starlettes fourth. Misses Robin Deterding and Cindy Perkins were in charge of the softball program under the supervision of Mrs. Helen Bjorkman.

Mercer in home tilts; all-stars to be decided

Illinois Inter-City Baseball League competition again this Sunday will feature 1 p.m. twinbills.

Prior to Sunday's games, the East Alton Vans visit Panama at 1 p.m. Saturday for a makeup doubleheader that twice before was rained out.

On Sunday, league-leading Mercer (18-7 record) hosts Panama (11-13) at Wilson Park; Thomas (2-22) is on the road against the Vans (17-7) at East Alton; and Fairfax (9-16) visits Highland-Pierson (16-8).

Following this weekend's activity, the annual league all-star game will be held Wednesday, Aug. 11, at 8 p.m. on Highland-Pierson's diamond in Pierson.

The all-star contests pits the team leading the league standings against a team composed of players who are members of the other five league teams. Mercer's Highland and the Vans are potentials for this honor.

Mercer will open Sunday's action against Panama with John Scott on the mound.

Scott, a GCHS North graduate, has gone 55 and one-third innings this season and has a 2.63 earned run average. He has fanned 43 batters, has allowed 25 runs and has a personal record of five wins against three losses.

Mercer's batting order will include Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville graduate Jim Greenwald, who leads the league in batting with a .520 average.

Greenwald has blasted 11 home runs and has collected 32 hits thus far. He is credited with 27 runs batted in.

Bob Scott is second to Greenwald in Mercer's hitting with a .453 average and Dennis Harrington is batting .372. Sunday, Aug. 15, will mark the conclusion of the league season, with playoffs slated to begin Aug. 22.

Joseph Fedora, boys' athletic director for the Granite City School District, has been in Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, for tests this week. He entered the hospital during the weekend after suffering a vision problem.

Soccer Cougars host international tourney

Just about this time last year, the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team was preparing to fly to Europe to help the city of Amsterdam celebrate its 700th birthday.

The SIUE kickers of Coach Bob Guelker proceeded to take Holland and all of Europe by storm, winning the International Youth Tournament championship over an 18-day meet held there in August of '75. The Cougars beat Quincy 2-0 in the championship game in Amsterdam.

Now, the Cougar kickers are one of eight teams poised to take part in another international soccer tournament, this one at home, starting this Sunday afternoon with a pair of games.

The meet, officially called the St. Louis Bicentennial international collegiate soccer tournament, will pit four American schools against four foreign schools, two from Canada and two from South America.

The tournament will run from Sunday, Aug. 8, through Sunday, Aug. 15.

This Sunday's schedule will be the heaviest of the tournament, as four games are slated. On the other six days, there will be two games each day.

Two of Sunday's games will be played at SIUE's Cougar Field and two are scheduled under the lights at Washington University's Francis Field, site of the 1904 Olympiad.

In addition to SIUE, the three other United States colleges are always powerful St. Louis University, the University of Missouri-St. Louis and perennial NCAA champion Quincy College.

The two Canadian teams are Quebec Select and Canada Youth, and the other two foreign teams are Mackenzie University of Brazil and a Venezuelan school from Caracas.

Opening game this Sunday at Cougar Field will find UMSL's Rivermen tackling Quebec

Select at 12:30, while the host SIUE team will meet the Canada Youth squad at 2:30.

In the first game Sunday night at Francis Field, the Quincy College Hawks battle Mackenzie University starting at 6:30. In the final contest, Harry Keogh's St. Louis University Bills will battle Caracas beginning at 9:30.

Quincy, the team favored to win at Amsterdam last summer, poses the greatest threat to the four U.S. schools, although the Canada Youth team is virtually unknown in the states.

Mackenzie has played in the United States the past two years. Two years ago, meeting SIUE, St. Louis and Quincy in a tour of North America, the Brazilians looked "easy as pie" and were nearly demolished. Last year, it was another matter; SIUE, for example, was lucky to escape with a 1-1 tie.

Quebec Select ran through all competition in Holland with ease until it met the Quincy Hawks in the semifinals. Coach Jack Mackenzie's Quincy aggregation pulled the upset of the international tourney by eliminating the Canadians, 1-0. Quincy then fell to the Cougars, but avenged that loss by defeating SIUE 6-3 in regular season play.

Quincy went on to win the NCAA national championship, while the Cougars finished second in the prestigious NCAA division (large schools) tournament behind the University of San Francisco. Quincy's feat, the Cougars beat the St. Louis U. Bills twice, a first big in the school's history.

Soccer for 6-13 group

The YMCA Soccer Association is seeking players, aged 6-13, interested in participating in this fall's "soccer program, which begins next month.

A $5 per player fee is required at the time of registration. Interested youths are being asked to contact the YMCA at 976-7200, giving the name, age, birthdate, address and telephone number.

GC, Croatian, VFW, Razor's in state meet

Sixty-four Men's Class A softball teams will participate Aug. 11-22 in state double-elimination tournament competition at Decatur and Moweaqua diamonds—including four Quad-City squads, Granite City Athletic Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300, Croatian Home and Razor's Edge Barber Shop.

The four, members of Granite City Park District leagues, advanced into the state tourney from a 20-team district meet here in June.

GC Athletic Club captured district honors with a 12-3 win over Post 1300. Croatian Home placed third and Razor's Edge fourth.

Though the fifth annual state tourney opens Wednesday, Aug. 11, local entries will not see action until late next week.

On Friday, Aug. 13, Athletic Club plays Kankakee at 9 p.m. in Decatur.

Contests set for Saturday, Aug. 14, includes Post 1300 vs. Moline One at 11 a.m. in Decatur, Croatian Home vs. Genesee One at noon in Moweaqua, and Razor's Edge vs. Harrisburg Two at 1 p.m. in Decatur.

A state tournament championship game is set for 7 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 22, at Decatur, with the victor advancing into regional play Sept. 2-6 at Olney, Md.

Tennis meet Aug. 20-22; entry deadline is Aug. 18

Workshop on alcoholism and the new Illinois law

An all-day seminar for nurses and social workers who will be working with the alcoholic patient under newly-implemented guidelines set by the Illinois Alcoholism Intoxication Act will be held Thursday, Aug. 12, at the Ramada Inn, Fairview Heights. The Illinois Alcoholism Intoxication Act has been publicized and placed responsibility for treatment of the alcoholic on hospitals and social service agencies. The Emergency Medical Service Training and Education Subcommittee, Region IV, has set up a comprehensive program in an effort to prepare nurses and social workers for their expanded role in the treatment of alcoholics. Raymond C. Paradise, regional alcoholism coordinator for the southern subregion, will lead off the program by explaining the significance of each section of the Alcoholism and Intoxication Treatment Act. Joseph P. Kendis, M.D., who has been working in the field of alcoholism since 1942 and is vice-chairman of the Missouri State Advisory Council on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse, will define alcoholism as a disease and identify tools used to diagnose the alcoholic. Predisposing factors leading to alcoholism in adults as well as children will be discussed. Proper medical treatment in the hospital setting will be covered by Dr. Kendis and Terrie Schwerdtfeger, R.N., assistant program director, Alcoholism Education Program, Malcolm Bliss Mental Health Center, St. Louis. Jim Harting, executive director, Alcoholism and Drug Dependency Council of St. Clair County, will discuss proper referral techniques and specific agencies available to alcoholics. A member of Alcoholics Anonymous will comment on the impact of society's attitudes on the alcoholic. Health care personnel's attitudes toward the alcoholic also will be examined. Paul J. Kline, chief deputy sheriff, St. Clair County, will speak on law enforcement's changing role in connection with the Alcoholism and Intoxication Treatment Act. A panel composed of physicians, nurses, social workers and law enforcement officers will discuss a variety of topics in connection with alcoholism. The program will close with a question and answer period. The Illinois Nurses Association will grant 6 CEUs (Continuing Education Units) for seminar participation. The workshop will be held at Dohack's Restaurant in the Ramada Inn located at the intersection of Route 139 and Interstate 64. Fee for the seminar is $10, including lunch. Shirley O'Connell, R.N., conference coordinator at 274-1900, ext. 322, has registration information. The registration deadline is Aug. 10.

Loan Olin antiques to mansion

Antique furniture, china, silver and other items of personal property with an estimated value in excess of $500,000 are being transferred this week from the Olin estate at Fairmount, near Alton, to the governor's mansion in Springfield.

Loan of the property, now owned by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, to the Illinois State Historical Library for display at the governor's mansion was approved by the SIU Board of Trustees in June. Since that time, selected articles have been photographed, tagged and prepared for shipment to Springfield.

University officers said the loan arrangement is the result of interest in the personal property initiated last fall by the Executive Mansion Restoration Committee, a charitable organization co-chaired by Mrs. Daniel Walker, wife of the governor, and Mrs. A. D. Van Meter, wife of a member of the SIU board.

The restoration committee has been responsible in recent years for assisting in, and contributing to, the renovation and enhancement of the state's executive mansion.

The local university will retain ownership of the items loaned to the governor's mansion, and the state will be responsible for maintaining the items in good repair and condition. According to the agreement, the items will be displayed prominently and will be identified as university property, derived from a gift by John M. Olin.

SIU Acting President Andrew J. Kochman said "It is believed that these valuable and largely irreplaceable articles will serve a higher public purpose at the executive mansion than would be served by them in the context of the university's use of the Olin property as a cultural and conference retreat center."

The Olin estate, valued in excess of $3 million, was given to the university in 1975 by John M. Olin of St. Louis.

Administrators and faculty are continuing to develop plans for use of the property, which Olin stipulated should be used and operated "exclusively for charitable, cultural, scientific, literary and educational purposes."

Lybarger family moving from area

Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Rita) Lybarger, 1228 Grand Ave., Madison, will move to Oklahoma City, Okla., by Sept. 1.

Lybarger has been promoted to terminal manager for the Acme Fast Freight Co. He has been the firm's St. Louis sales representative.

Mrs. Rita Lybarger has been secretary to Madison Mayor Mike Sarsky for the past three and one-half years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hoover and family of Venice have purchased the Lybarger home and will become Madison residents.

Homeowners warned against swindles by bogus utility agents

Area residents, particularly elderly persons, are being warned against men who have been attempting to take money from homeowners after identifying themselves as employees of Illinois Power Co.

One elderly woman who resides in the 1300 block of Rhodes Street, said three men came to her home, identified themselves as being from the power company and two of them entered her home.

One said she had overpaid her utility bill and had a $10 refund due. He offered her a large bill, believed to be a $50 bill, and asked her if she would give him change.

Meanwhile, the third man went to the home of an elderly woman on door and said he would fix the foundation of her home for $35, and offered to do other work inexpensively. The woman became suspicious and called the police, after which the three men left in an old brown car.

Another report was given by an elderly Sken Street resident in Madison who said three men in a white car came to his home, identified themselves as power company employees and said he had a $20 refund due.

The elderly man said he was handed a $50 bill and asked for $30 change. He said he did not have that much and the man who said he was from the power company said he knew the man had that much, noting it was the day Social Security checks were supposed to be delivered.

When the proposed victim insisted he did not have change for the $50 bill, the men left, he reported.

Police warned the men probably are "fast change artists" and would attempt to confuse any elderly person giving them change for the larger bill, later leaving with the $50 bill and the change.

Home repair schemes also have been used here recently in which a man posing as a workman receives a down-payment for work to be done and does very little or no work in return for the money.

An Illinois Power Co. spokesman reminded all residents that power company employees all carry identification cards and are not authorized to handle any money.

Money may be exchanged only at the power company office, it was emphasized.

Granite City assistant chief of police George Teller urged residents to call the police immediately if they have any doubts whether a workman or service employee is legitimate. "We would much rather make several false trips to verify power company employees are legitimate than to see anyone bilked out of his money," Teller said.

Rail layoffs due to mines

The Norfolk and Western Railway Co. said this week it will have furloughed 650 employees by Saturday if the wildcat strike across the Appalachian and Ohio coal fields continues through the end of this week.

Those railroad employees furloughed include clerical, maintenance of way and motive power employees in Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio and Illinois. The railroad estimated it had lost 11,300 carloads, or 565,000 tons of coal, and $3.5 million in revenue due to the miners' strike over the past two weeks.

Walkouts by coal miners began July 19 in central West Virginia and two days later began to affect mines served by Norfolk and Western in the southern part of that state. The strike has since spread to other areas, including Illinois mines.

Rookie earns 4th straight cycle win

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer

Alabama's Lance Jones, at the age of 16, Tuesday night at Tri-City Speedway joined former track champions Goy McClure and Robert E. Lee as the only riders in the track's history to capture four consecutive American Motorcycle Association-sanctioned feature races.

Jones is a tiny, frail youth. His accomplishment differs from McClure and Lee in that the Alabama rider is a "rookie" competitor in professional racing while the other two riders have at least five years of experience each.

He also has the distinction of being the first rider ever to win every event each week at Tri-City, bringing his streak to four in four weeks to 12.

Jones started the evening by leading Rick Oxtan and Jim Greenlee across the finish line in a heat race. He then beat Robert Beary and Doug Ann to the checkers in a semi-main event.

Aligning his cycle alongside of McClure, Danny Kirkland, Steve Elio and Ann on the front row of the 10-rider main event, Jones failed to get the jump on McClure at the start and moved into second place behind the Texan going into the first corner.

Before a lap could be completed, a yellow flag was displayed when Granite Cityan Marshall Patrick crashed — necessitated a complete restart.

Patrick was shaken but unhurt in the mishap.

On the restart, Jones charged into the lead with McClure and Patrick trailing him.

Two laps later, Jones pulled away from the field enroute to victory. McClure finished second, Kirkland third, Elio fourth, Ann fifth and Patrick sixth.

McClure, Kirkland, Beary and Jeff Mundlock joined Jones as heat race victors. Kirkland, McClure and Patrick also won their respective semi-main events.

Kirkland, defending track champion here, joined the racing program in the first time since being sidelined nearly six weeks ago with a broken ankle.

Jones is no stranger to the winners' circle in racing. Having won the first race of his career on a mini-bike in Dalton, Ga., the youth climbed aboard the more powerful 360cc class cycles last year and went on to become district champion in his home state before capturing last year's Indiana state title.

"As an amateur rider last year, I claimed more than $18,000 in prize money," Jones says.

He is a junior in high school. Racing motorcycles is a summertime five-days-a-week activity for Jones, who campaigns each Tuesday at Tri-City, Wednesdays near Chicago and Fridays Saturdays at speedways in Alabama.

Listed by the AMA as the top novice (rookie) rider in the greenline class, Jones leads Mike Rhodes of Flint, Mich., at present in the national point standings, 40-20.

Thus far this season, he has won 27 of the 45 feature races he has entered around the country, including victories on half-mile tracks.

Being first is the "name of the game" for Jones.

He also is the current point leader in eastern regional competition, a series of championship events which involves riders from throughout the eastern states. And he heads Tri-City's race for the track title.

"I'll be in New York this Sunday for a regional race," he notes, "and then take a needed rest Monday before returning to Granite City for Tuesday's racing."

Orphaned at an early age, Jones attributes his success in education and in keeping me from straying.

"The least I can do in return is to complete my education and be successful in what I do best."

Success to Jones means possibly someday being a national champion in the sport of motorcycle racing.

Melanie Asadorian to sing at baseball 'county night'

Miss Melanie Asadorian of Granite City, a soprano and a music major at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will open Madison County Night at St. Elizabeth's Church Stadium this evening by singing the national anthem.

She will appear during ceremonies at 7:30 tonight preceding the first contest of a four-game home series between the baseball Cardinals and the National Baseball League Eastern Division Philadelphia Phillies.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Asadorian, 217 Grant Ave., Miss Asadorian represents the county as the 1976 Miss Madison County Fair queen, a title bestowed on her last month during a countywide pageant.

A 1974 graduate of GCHS South, she sings in the Madrigals Chorus and is a member of the Nu Iota Sigma sorority. In high school, she won a first-place award in Illinois high school music competition and played lead roles in school productions of "Camelot" and "The Impossible Years."

She was selected as Miss Granite City a year ago and represented the city in the Illinois state pageant of the Miss America contest. Included in tonight's pre-game ceremonies will be Nelson Hagauer, chairman of the Madison County Board pitching to Madison County Sheriff John Maeras while Willard "Butch" Portell, clerk of the county Circuit Court, serves as catcher.

In attendance will be many state and county officials as well as 27 Madison County mayors.

North High expects young soccer squad

Robert Kehoe, GCHS North soccer coach, expects a large number of freshman athletes to report for the first season of practice, Wednesday, Aug. 18, at 8:30 a.m. on the school's field.

"With only six seniors returning from last year's squad," he speculates, "we possibly will carry more freshman players on the roster than in any of the past seasons."

Kehoe and his assistant, David Ames, expect each athlete to appear on Aug. 18 with completed physical examination forms.

They are to be prepared to practice twice each day, at 8:30 a.m. and again at 6 p.m., with each session lasting about two hours.

The Steeler soccer season opens Sept. 4 on the road at Quincy, and then the team will face a two-day trip, Sept. 19-21, to Maine East and New Trier West.

Cross-country meet registration includes adults

Entries are now being accepted from athletes desiring to participate in a third annual cross-country meet to be held Sunday, August 15, at 8:30 a.m. at the GCHS North High School, starting at 6:15 p.m.

Competition is open to both men and women in five different age groups — age 16 and under, ages 17-22, ages 23-29, ages 30-39 and age 40 and over.

Local athletes have been victorious in past runs over the three-mile course since it was first held in 1974 — Lehigh's Craig Virgin, National Collegiate Athletic Association champion, and Carol Cook of Lehigh, Mo. United States 10,000-meter recordholder.

Virgin again will pit his talents against runners from Illinois and Missouri this year.

A $1 fee must accompany advance entries, or a fee of $2 is required from athletes entering on the day of the event.

Entries are to be mailed to: Danny Lavin, 24 Briarwood, Belleville 62203.

South High schedules soccer, football drills

GCHS South's soccer and football programs will begin with practice sessions starting Wednesday, Aug. 18, report 7:30 a.m. to noon and again from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. both days.

Baker notes that potential soccer athletes in all grade levels should report for practice at 10 a.m. on the field located north of the football stadium near Peeling Road.

He also stresses the importance of each athlete presenting physical examination certificates and insurance forms, signed by parents, at that time. Insurance forms may be obtained from the South High main office.

McBunting again will serve as Baker's assistant in practice and during the season, which opens Sept. 1 at home against Waterloo.

Coach Wojcik has four dates this month set aside for training of players and to athletes interested in joining the football program.

On Friday, Aug. 13, and Saturday, Aug. 14, varsity players will be given equipment from 9 a.m. to noon and again from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. both days.

On Monday, Aug. 16, sophomores are to be in the school's gymnasium to receive equipment in two sessions, at the same times as the varsity schedule. On Tuesday, Aug. 17, freshman players' equipment will be handed out during the two time periods.

Wojcik reminds potential players that they too should have completed physical examination certificates available on Aug. 18.

The first football practice will start at 8 a.m. Aug. 18.

Leroy Heck will coach offensive backs, Don Miller defensive backs, Jerry McKeehan the defensive line, Lynn Lybarger sophomore players and Nick Petrillo freshman athletes.

Pointreaders to duel for speedway honors

Three drivers of late-model stock cars are in contention for the lead in Gateway Auto Racing Association's point standings going into Saturday's 7:30 p.m. auto racing program on the half-mile oval of Tri-City Speedway.

Wicker's Constructing track champion Russ Wallace of Arnold, Mo., maintains a slim lead over East Alton's Bill Myers in the standings.

Wallace has 2,840 points to Myers' 2,805. Mike Hammerle of St. Charles, Mo., is in third place with 2,540.

With a maximum of 300 points going to a driver who wins every event he enters on a particular night, either Myers or Hammerle could surge past Wallace with a clean sweep of the races.

The situation is similar in the sportsman division, where St. Louisan Kris Krohn has 2,170 points.

Dean Aerne of Granite City is second with 1,960 points. Tri-City drivers also hold down the third and fourth positions, Chuck Milam with 1,580 and Les Glesby with 1,530 points.

The 1975 racing season is over for Gateway Auto Racing Association drivers at the St. Charles Speedway.

Association officials ended the season due to an insufficient number of cars appearing to compete each week, and due to small crowds of spectators.

Granite City's Larry Yates was announced Sunday night as sportsman division champion of St. Charles Speedway, Hammerle as late model division track title.

Alton nine captures spirit of '76 championship here

The Alton Optimist baseball team scored four runs on Gary Wallbridge's grand slam home run in the second inning to rip Florissant, Mo., 8-3, for the Spirit of '76 Baseball Classic championship Tuesday evening at GCHS North.

Alton went through the 12-team double-elimination tournament undefeated, winning five games to end its season with a 4-1 record.

Sponsored by the Mitchell Athletic Club and hosted by Glen Carbon American Legion Post 435, the tourney opened Tuesday night with Alton's 1-0 in 11 innings behind the pitching of Granite City's Tony Stajduhar.

Stajduhar and Florissant's Tom Franke hooked up in a pitching duel which saw the local hurler allow only one hit in 10 innings.

Florissant next defeated Pine Lawn-Normandy of Missouri and a team from Madison, Ohio, plus Missouri's Cecil Ritchey Legion team before eliminating Glen Carbon 7-4 early this week to reach the championship game.

Glen Carbon's other loss was Wednesday's 4-1 defeat at the hands of eliminated Europa, St. Louis City champion, and then Ferguson, Mo.

Florissant ended its season with a 27-10 mark and Post 435 ended at 20-20.

Alton's pitcher, who hit over 600 with two bases-loaded homers and 12 runs batted in, edged out Glen Carbon's Brian Lyons for the tourney's most valuable player award.

Sikes hit an even 500 with one homer, two triples and six runs batted in.

Many outstanding pitchers were seen in action by area fans, including Stajduhar, Alton's Mike Smith, Florissant's Franke, Pine Lawn's Ron Mathis and Ritchey's Mike Wallace.

Pine Lawn's catcher was Glenn Murphy, a Missouri all-star this year in high school.

Alton's manager, Mike Lyons, said several game-saving plays at his shortstop position, as did Glen Carbon's Doug Rains, who played third base and shortstop.

Venice proposes phone franchise

Alderman John Ervin, with approval of the Venice City Council Tuesday evening, requested City Clerk Ed Patterson to write the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. asking that it arrange negotiations for a franchise for the telephone company to operate in the city of Venice.

"We protect their poles from fire and let them put up their equipment around town and I believe the city should receive some consideration in the way of free telephone for city offices in return," Ervin said.

"We pay for every call made on city business and everything else we have done," Ervin added.

"Granite City gets 25 phones and Grandview gets 100 phones from Illinois Bell. We'd be happy with just a few in our city offices," he concluded.

Additional baseball teams are still needed to round out a playing schedule for the Venice Park District's third annual tournament to be held at Venice's Lee Park Aug. 17-22.

John Henry Williams, tournament chairman, explains that five divisions will compete: atom, infant, midget and juvenile.

A $20 per entry fee is required and payment on the tournament's starting date.

Williams notes that seven teams have entered, and that number of cars appearing to compete each week, and due to small crowds of spectators.

With its subsidiaries and associate companies, the corporation constitutes an integrated unit for the manufacture and sale of a broad line of flat-rolled steel products, a substantial portion of which is sold for use by the automotive and container industries.

The corporation is also engaged in production of primary aluminum and fabrication of a varied line of aluminum products.

The McKinley Toll Bridge report for July showed 245,699 vehicles crossed the bridge during the month. This is an increase of 1,000 over the same month last year.

Duane Georgeff, bridge manager, said final details for bridge repairs have not yet been worked out with the contractor.

A delegation of five Main street residents attended the Venice Council meeting to protest large dust clouds from trucks on Kerr Street in the piggyback truck yard on Main Street operated by the Illinois Central Gulf railroad.

The citizens previously complained to the council about the dust, raised by heavy trucks, and John Ervin said, "We have been to the railroad twice today asking them to at least oil the streets and their trucks to keep the dust down. They tell us they will blacktop."

The council also instructed the superintendent of streets to determine what the railroad is doing on the closed section of Main Street. It was felt that although closed only temporarily, barricades should be erected and the surface remain passable for emergency vehicles or for use if flooding conditions should block the underpass.

A refund of $190 from the Bicentennial Parade Committee will be received by the council, along with a detailed financial statement, according to William Griggs.

Alderman E. H. Buentje presided at the meeting in the absence of Mayor William M. Ebersold who is in the hospital.

Earlier negotiations between the union's bargaining committee and company representatives resulted in the first part of the wage contract being presented to union members July 29, with the steelworkers' rejecting the company's offer.

Copier said the local's bargaining committee, headed by Jerry Morgan, a business representative of the United Steelworkers District 34, and Melvin Lawrence, Local 1472 president, is trying to set up a meeting with company officials for later this week. He reported that negotiators for the firm said they "are willing to talk."

Details of the offer which was rejected by the union membership last week were not revealed.

Hard hat saves guidewall worker

Marty Silbe, a member of Granite City Laborers Local 397, has become the tenth recipient of the Southern Illinois Builders Association Spot Club award, presented in recognition of those spared serious injury because they were wearing a hard hat.

Marty Silbe, an employee of Frue-Colson Corp., St. Louis, was working in the crew placing concrete in the new guidewall at Lock 27, Granite City, when a No. 9 rebar, 1 1/4-inch thick, that was partially imbedded in the concrete was accidentally compressed by a four-yard concrete bucket.

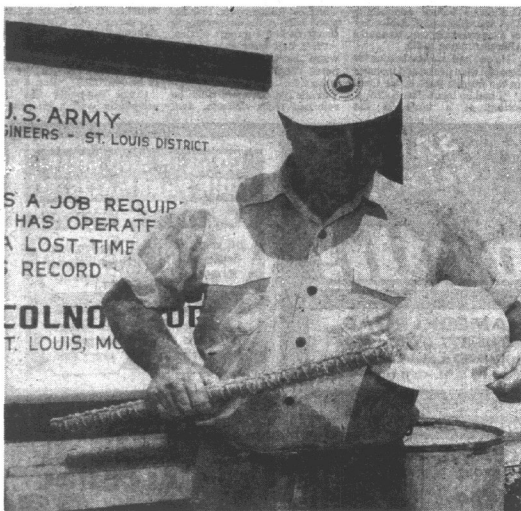

When the bucket was moved, the rebar recoiled, striking Silbe in the head.

The blow cut the hard hat and caused a three-inch cut to the forehead of Silbe that required eight stitches.

Witnesses said Silbe would "most certainly have had severe and possibly fatal injuries as a result of the blow" had he not been wearing adequate safety protection on top.

The Spot Club (Safety Protection On Top) is sponsored by the Southern Illinois Builders Association (SIBA) as a means of promoting use of safety head protection — hard hats — on all construction projects in Southern Illinois.

In order to qualify for membership in the club, it must be documented in writing by eyewitnesses — or verified by an accident or compensation report — that an individual avoided serious injury or possible death as a result of wearing head protection on the job.

NARROW ESCAPE. Marty Silbe of Laborers Local 397 is shown holding the hard hat he was wearing when the bar in his other hand struck him during pouring of concrete at the Chain of Rocks Canal Lock 27 guidewall project. Recoiling after being compressed by a heavy bucket, the bar cut the hard hat and gashed his forehead. Without such safety head protection, the injury could have been severe or fatal.

More flood insurance coverage offered in new federal program

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

A plan under which Granite City may qualify for increased flood insurance was outlined by officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), the Illinois Division of Water Resource Management and the U.S. Corps of Engineers during a public meeting yesterday afternoon in the Granite City Hall.

A similar public meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today in the Venice City Hall.

A large map showing areas subject to surface flooding in the area of heavy rains displayed and it was noted flood insurance would be required in these areas for new structures, new owners and others, should the city decide to join the permanent flood insurance program.

Persons designated were those determined by a U.S. Corps of Engineers study, which would have an average of two or more feet of water on the ground should the city experience the heaviest rainfall it statistically would have within a 100-year period.

The officials cautioned against taking the term "100-year flood lightly," one noting, "A homeowner with a 30-year mortgage has a 26 per cent chance of such a flood during the period of his mortgage."

The Corps report notes Granite City should have significantly more rainfall than the rest of the metropolitan area, but rainfall statistics here fail to support that contention.

Harold Rudolph, a specialist with HUD, said the program is designed so homeowners of hazardous areas can get flood insurance.

He noted payments from the federal disaster flood program, which is tax money, are averaging $1.5 billion each year to flood victims.

Granite City was among those cities which qualified for an "emergency flood insurance" program by passing a resolution recognizing that some areas of the city are subject to flooding.

The emergency program, now in effect, allows any homeowner to purchase up to $35,000 insurance for a home and up to $100,000 for a non-residential structure at 25 cents per $100 insurance.

By meeting certain requirements of HUD, each city could enter the regular program which would double the amount of insurance coverage available to $70,000 on homes and $200,000 for non-residential structures.

Homeowners would pay no more than 25 cents per $100 for the first $35,000 of insurance, but would pay "actuarial rates," reflecting the actual risk of flooding, for the second $35,000.

The amount of future Corps of Engineers studies, but it is hoped all work can be completed so the city can enter the regular program within six to nine months.

The same rate will apply for non-residential structures which will pay 25 cents for each $100 of insurance, up to $100,000, but will pay the actuarial rate for any additional coverage, up to a total of $200,000.

One point stressed was that persons now residing in areas designated as flood-prone areas will not be required by the government to have flood insurance, but persons seeking mortgage loans on the property, seeking second mortgages or constructing new structures in flood-prone areas would be required to purchase sufficient flood insurance to cover the value of the structure.

It also was noted some lending institutions might demand that present owners in that area who have not paid off their mortgages purchase flood insurance to protect the lending institution in the case of flood.

Anyone in areas in the permanent program would be able to purchase flood insurance which could be as little as one cent per $100 or as high as $8 per $100, depending upon the amount of risk. The premium would not exceed 25 cents per $100 of insurance for the first $35,000, however, as long as Congress continues to fund the flood insurance subsidy program, which must be renewed each year.

In order to qualify for the program, the city also must agree to pass ordinances restricting what types of buildings may be constructed in flood-prone areas.

Stephen Watkins, an official of the Water Resources Division of the state, said several types of buildings will be allowed, including any building which is above the anticipated level of a 100-year rainfall accumulation.

Simply lifting the property above the level of the high water prediction could allow any type of structure to be constructed.

A noted permit to construct each home on a "crawl space" which would allow water to run under the house without damaging it.

A third solution is being studied by the federal government — that of a flood-proof basement. The government first allowed flood-proof basements in flood-prone areas as an exemption for areas under a wind-hazard designation.

"We are hoping to expand that exemption to apply here," he said.

He said most of the flood studies thus far have been for areas likely to be flooded by a river or lake overflowing, and not for rainfall accumulation.

The levees protecting the Quadricentennial area are designed to protect the area against even a flood of the 500-year frequency, so the danger of the Mississippi River overflowing is not an important factor in determining flood insurance rates here.

Areas most likely to be flooded by rainfall have received little study and this area will be one of the areas in which a specific program must be designed and used as an example for the programs in other similar areas, he said.

Seepage damage from underground water is not included in the definition of flood, as applies to the program, he noted.

"In the event of a flood, the wise homeowner will grab a camera and take a photo of water rising out of a creek or ditch or even coming over the curb from the street to show the damage was from surface flooding and not underwater drainage," he said.

Insurance claim adjusters will have the responsibility of determining whether damages were from a surface flood or other cause and the whole area need not be declared a flooded area in order for one homeowner to qualify for a flood damage claim, he added.

A three-month period is provided for persons feeling the maps of flood-prone areas are technically inaccurate, he said, and Mayor Paul Schuler commented, "That means a resident has three months to prove the U.S. Corps of Engineers study was wrong."

One real estate developer asked if later drainage improvements could improve the classification of a given area's flood-prone rating, and it was stated that construction of a drainage ditch or other flood-proofing improvements would be sufficient cause to request the Corps of Engineers to revise their maps.

Madison has not yet received notification of a proposed program to convert it from the emergency flood insurance program to the regular program, but such a notification is anticipated in the near future.

Madison and Madison County also will hold public meetings on the program when their plans are completed.

The Granite City flood-prone map shows few populated areas low enough to be in the two-foot or deeper accumulation areas. Exceptions were the North Granite City area, much of which was designated as flood-prone, the area immediately around Dorey Slough and an area south of the Granite City Steel rolling mill facilities.

Other small areas were spotted around the city map. Larger areas were designated as areas which would receive an average of one foot accumulation in a 100-year rain, but flood insurance would not be required in those areas.

A copy of the map will be available to the public in the Granite City Hall by making arrangements in advance with Mayor Paul Schuler.

Brokerage firm has new electronic system

A new era is about to begin on Wall Street, a major technological breakthrough is about to make its impact on the New York Stock Exchange.

The standard communication unit of the brokerage industry, the basic teletype machine, is about to become "obsolete," Lowi and Co., Inc., whose offices include one in Belleville, reported during the weekend.

The basic teletype machine, introduced in the 1940s, has been the standard operating tool of the brokerage industry since that time. But regular production of the basic teletype has ceased.

When any firm today seeks to acquire teletypes, which are owned and leased by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., they must wait for another firm to give one up for a new one from the infrequent production schedules, a spokesman said.

Midwestern-based Lowi & Co., one of the largest regional brokerage firms in the U.S., has substantially increased the available market supply of teletype machines.

Lowi is confident that it has found an "easier, faster, more efficient and more reliable method of communication operation within the brokerage industry."

It has introduced a completely integrated, completely operational electronic data communication system.

Gilbert H. Schubert, president, says Lowi has long been involved in a process of research, selection and establishment of new electronic communication system.

At one point, Lowi considered as many as six separate concepts for an electronic communication system. The final result utilizes a host of IBM and AT&T components tied to AT&T long lines.

The new system became operational in July in all of Lowi's retail branch offices — 38 in the Midwest, plus one office in New York City — and operational at all exchanges where Lowi participates, including the New York Stock Exchange.

While many brokerage firms have been investigating the potential use of electronic data systems with IBM and AT&T, Lowi has pioneered new ground by actually installing and going fully operational with its system, it was noted.

"There are so many 'firsts' here, I'm not certain I can list them all," said Schubert. "We are, of course, the first company using an electronic data communication system on AT&T long lines."

"We're the first system using AT&T Datapac 40 terminals, which are 120-character-per-second receiving terminals on the floors at the exchanges."

"We are also using IBM 3767 terminals in our branch offices, and our IBM 3767 system is one of the largest in operation in the U.S. We are the first to use them in conjunction with the Datapac 40 terminals."

"The software that integrates and programs our computers in the system is IBM's CCAP-7-II. It's available at no other brokerage firm anywhere. In fact, there are only 30 other business concerns of any kind in the world employing CCAP-7-II."

"This system has had a broad, sweeping impact on Lowi in terms of operating benefits and customer benefits. It is considerably faster, more reliable and easier to work with."

"Transmission of the completed order is virtually instantaneous to the floor of an exchange."

"Our new system handles seven orders for each one of the previous system could handle."

Census

based by the U.S. government on the basis of population, it was noted.

Coleman said statistics show that for every additional person shown by official census figures, a city would receive about $25 per year in revenue sharing alone.

On this basis, every 50 additional persons revealed by a census would produce $1,000 per year, or a total of $4,000 for the four years remaining before the next government census in 1980.

Alderman Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward noted that the city "would be gambling" to make an official census since it also "stands to report a loss in population as well as gains."

He called attention to a substantial loss in population reported in the 1970 government census.

His reference was to early 1970 census figures which showed a loss of 4,354 persons in Granite City, for an official census figure of 36,086.

That loss, however, was eliminated early in 1971 when the U.S. Census Bureau reported it had "found" the best occupants and revised the official 1970 census total to 40,400.

Other aldermen said they believed that through annexations and normal processes of growth the city is certain to show an increase in population.

Alderman Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward moved that the council refer the matter to the committee to study the matter and that a recommendation be made by the committee to the council in its next meeting.

FREE PARKING FOR FAIR The Illinois State Fair Aug. 12-22 in Springfield will offer two additional lots for free parking this year. Limited paid parking will also be available on the fairgrounds. The free parking lots, a total of three with over 1,000 parking spaces, are located in the state office complex in downtown Springfield. Shuttle buses will connect the lots with Freedom Fair '76.

MADISON BURGLARY A television and a stereo with a tape player were stolen from the home of Roger W. Barks, 1123 Meridian Ave., it was reported at 4:30 p.m. Monday. Deputies said they discovered the house had been broken into July 21 and secured it. Barks reported the burglary after returning home from vacation. The stolen items were valued at a total of $300.

conservative congressman among Illinoisans if not in the entire House of Representatives. First there was the Democratic nomination of Jimmy Carter to be president, a selection that fills Crane with dread and foreboding. Now comes Ronald Reagan's selection of a Senate Republican for presidential running mate whose voting record could pass for that of a liberal with elbow room to the left because there are so few on his flank. It's enough to make the mind of an unalloyed conservative Republican reel, particularly when, like Crane, he is Illinois campaign chairman for Reagan, the great hope of the far right.

Worst of all, Reagan and his campaign strategists never look long into their confidence before announcing that Sen. Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania was Reagan's chosen running mate. No one had worked harder for Reagan than Crane and it shows in the fatigue lines of his face. "I had no input," said Crane, sitting at a table in the speaker's lobby of the House. "I've never discussed the vice-presidential nomination with Gov. Reagan ever. I understand none of his supporters in Congress had any part of this. 'If I had been consulted, I would have been totally opposed. That's probably why I wasn't.'" Crane got the news when he returned from Chicago, Sen.

Paul LaRocca of Nevada, national chairman of Citizens for Reagan, called to let him know. Crane was still bemused days later. Was he floored? "Yes, I was," he is heartick. "Yes, I am." Crane suspects the fine pragmatic hand of John Sears, national campaign manager of Citizens for Reagan. "Evidently it was Sears' initiative. Sears has the mentality for balancing tickets and broadening constituencies." Is he said to be talked to Reagan July 26. "I am not persuaded he was fully informed of Schweiker's voting record. He did get some agreement on gun control, abortion, amnesty and school prayer (issues high on conservative platforms)." Crane has not lost faith in Reagan and he does not believe Reagan's long reach to get Schweiker signals panic in the Reagan camp. "I still support Gov. Reagan because in my view he more accurately represents the philosophy of the Republican party than does Gerald Ford. 'I don't think it was a move of desperation although it is not compatible with the thinking of political conservatives.' When he considers the alternative the Democrats have offered voters, Crane says he will have to support the Republican nominee, whoever that turns out to be. "The Carter platform and candidacy are horrifying," Crane says. "He out-McGoverned McGovern."

In Jimmy Carter, the Democrats have a more effective and vastly more dangerous candidate than McGovern. Although Crane asserts that he cannot endorse Schweiker's candidacy and will not "in any way, shape or form support it as long as there is an open," he is preparing an opening for such an option. It could be a way for Reagan to save face and avert conservative defections at Kansas City, where the Republican convention opens Aug. 16. "Reagan shattered precedent by naming a vice-presidential choice in advance of the convention," Crane explained his gambit. "It would be equally innovative if delegates could select their vice presidential nominee."

Cong. Crane says he has already been talking with some Reagan supporters around the country about delegate selection of the vice-presidential nominee at Kansas City.

More intense competition in drug prices predicted

By VIRGINIA KNAUER

Director of Consumer Affairs
As the result of a recent Supreme Court decision, you will probably be able to save money on drug store bills by comparing prices for prescription drugs.

In a landmark case for consumers — the Virginia State Board of Pharmacy vs. the Virginia Citizens Consumer Council — the Supreme Court ruled it unconstitutional for states to forbid druggists to advertise prices for prescription drugs.

This decision paved the way for consumers to get price information that can make them better informed shoppers.

While relating to the practices of one state — Virginia — in prohibiting price disclosures, the Supreme Court decision will have the effect of nullifying bans in all the states that have these restrictions.

According to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), which has been studying the problem, at the time of the decision 17 states directly prohibited the advertising of prescription drugs — nine by law and eight by pharmacy board regulations.

At least three other states restricted price advertising as a practical matter by requiring that any ad include extensive medical information on the drug's ingredients.

In addition, nine states that did not prohibit all drug price advertising said they would be affected because they banned the price advertising of controlled substances (such as narcotics and hallucinogens).

By the lifting of these bans, the FTC predicts, consumers could save millions of dollars a year on their drug bills. FTC points to a study conducted by John F. Cady, assistant professor of marketing for the University of Arizona, that found that the price of prescription drugs in states regulating advertising is between 2.7 and 5.9 per cent higher than in states not having these regulations.

FTC also predicts that prescription drug advertising will reduce the differences in prices charged by different drug stores for the same drug.

According to FTC officials, drug advertising should lead to more competitive prices, thus bringing prices down.

Other benefits of price advertising are equally important to consumers although more obscure.

By bringing about lower prices for prescription drugs, price advertising should bring into the market consumers whose prescriptions were formerly left unfilled because of price.

Publicized prices should also make consumers and doctors more aware of the differences between brand-name drugs and their less expensive generic counterparts.

But the most important benefit of drug price advertising is that now you will be able to know the prices for your medicine in different drug stores so that, on the basis of cost as well as store services and location, you can choose where to go and how much to pay.

White grubs can ruin lawns

By WAYNE B. SIEPERT

Area Adviser in Ornamental Horticulture

Private hedge in some areas are loaded with grubs. Gray colored foliage is the tip-off. A close look shows the cigar-shaped insects on the leaves. One spray with malathion or sevin will clear up the problem. If you can roll up browned sections of your lawn like a piece of carpet, you had better scratch around in the loose dirt. You probably have a serious white-grub infestation.

White grubs feed on the roots of established grass, weakening and killing sections of lawns. Damage is most easily seen during late summer and fall when the grubs are about half grown.

Damage is usually concentrated in small areas. And if the infestation is heavy, roots may be so severely pruned that sections of sod can be easily lifted from the soil, uncovering dozens of U-shaped grubs.

White grubs are the larval stage of June or May beetles. Most lawns can stand one or two grubs per square foot, but a half dozen per square foot is a disaster. Even if your turf isn't a loose quilt, make a survey. Pick a green area that is close to a wilting or brown patch.

Cut three sides of a square foot of grass and lift the turf like a trap door. Scratch around in the soil and look for grubs. If there is more than three per square foot, then treat with diazinon. For immediate control, use one cup of liquid diazinon or 2½ pounds of granular diazinon per 1,000 square feet of turf. Water in promptly to carry the chemical into the root zone. Weekly watering will help keep the sod alive during the two-three week period when the chemical is gradually destroying the grubs.

QUARTERLY DIVIDEND
Post Corporation's board of directors during the weekend at Appleton, Wis., declared a quarterly dividend of 15 cents per share payable Sept. 30 to shareholders of record Sept. 16.

Increase in earnings of Post Corp.

Post Corporation's second-quarter earnings from continuing operations were 69.2 per cent higher than the same quarter a year ago. Six months' earnings are 46.4 per cent ahead. The firm owns the Press-Record.

The newspaper-broadcasting company said its second-quarter earnings totaled $653,000 or 72 cents per share compared with $375,000 or 43 cents a share last year.

Six-month earnings were $780,000 or 91 cents a share compared with $545,000 or 63 cents a share a year ago.

Last year, the corporation, based at Appleton, Wis., also owned a property-casualty insurance company whose losses more than offset earnings of the firm's other operations; thus, Post reported net losses for each of 1975's quarters. The company disposed of the insurance firm last Oct. 30.

A spokesman said all divisions and subsidiaries reported profits higher than a year ago, except two where expansion projects have been undertaken.

The latter are a suburban weekly newspaper group in Milwaukee which expanded last August to over a quarter-million circulation, and a suburban newspaper group near Boston which started a daily in 1973.

The Milwaukee group's losses are larger than last year because the expansion took place in the latter part of 1975. The Boston group's losses this year are lower than a year ago.

Post's Broadcasting Division, at the six-month mark, is 86 per cent ahead of a year ago in operating profit, the spokesman said. While all the company's stations did well, he singled out TV stations in Green Bay and Eau Claire, Wis., as the leaders.

The firm's Newspaper Division showed a slight drop in operating profit for the six months, due entirely to the Milwaukee operation.

All of Post's profitable newspapers — at Appleton, Neenah-Menasha and West Bend, Wis., and Granite City — reported higher operating profit than last year at this time.

Broadcast operations contributed 51 per cent of Post's operating profits for the first six months, and the Newspaper Division 48 per cent, with a printing company accounting for the remaining one per cent.

Thompson—upgrade services to disabled

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Thurs., Aug. 5, 1976 Page 19

Republican gubernatorial nominee James R. Thompson, labeling state services "woefully inadequate," proposed a wide-ranging plan Tuesday to deal with problems confronted by Illinois' disabled citizens.

In the sixth major position paper of his campaign, Thompson outlined his plan which would include a major program revamping of the State Board of Vocational Rehabilitation, an affirmative action program, removal of architectural barriers preventing access to buildings and mass transit, and investigations of possible discrimination against the disabled by the insurance industry.

"Illinois' programs for the disabled have been woefully inadequate. It is long past time for state government to make a commitment to the disabled to insure that they are neither treated nor regarded as second-class citizens," Thompson said.

The former United States attorney cited a performance audit of the Board of Vocational Rehabilitation (BVR) which showed that between 1968 and 1974, the number of new disabled cases accepted declined by 20 per cent.

Although the total caseload served increased by 31 per cent, the number of individuals rehabilitated declined by 15 per cent.

When these changes are compared to the changes which occurred in the 49 other state departments of vocational rehabilitation over the same period, Illinois ranked 48th in new cases served, 44th in total caseloads served, and 48th in individuals rehabilitated, he asserted.

Thompson said that through the period of declining performance BVR's funding and personnel have been steadily climbing.

"Illinois citizens have been paying more for vocational rehabilitation getting less from it, and are more poorly served by it than are the residents of any other state in the union," Thompson's plan calls for the following:

—Upgrading the employment and training programs of the Board of Vocational Rehabilitation through (1) expansion of followup services to limit underemployment, (2) continuous surveying of private work programs available to the disabled, (3) periodic caseworker seminars to review available programs and to examine results of cases referred for training, and (4) development of a more effective case management system to oversee operations of individual caseworkers.

—Development of a more fiscally responsible program within the BVR. "The board must revise its budget process to insure that the people in the field have guidance on how the agency intends to serve the disabled. Funding requests should be broken down by region, type of client served and type of services rendered."

—Introducing a statutory affirmative action program to insure that qualified disabled citizens are actively sought for government service.

—Removing architectural barriers which prohibit disabled citizens access to public buildings, state facilities and mass transportation.

"This can be accomplished by (1) requiring that all buildings constructed on behalf of the state be made accessible to the disabled.

(2) "The Illinois Department of Transportation must insist that any new mass transit facilities be accessible to the physically disabled to insure compliance with federal law."

(3) "All curbs should be ramped whenever one is required so that people in wheelchairs can cross an intersection and not just enter it."

(4) A textured substance should be used on the ramps so that blind persons will know when they are approaching the opposite sidewalk."

—Insuring a full voice in the political process by policy changes in the electoral process. (1) "Election authorities should be mandated to take all reasonable steps to find an accessible polling place within their district. If no facility is found, a canvass should be taken to determine who is disabled and inform individuals of their right to an absentee ballot."

(2) "A bill should be enacted to prevent any county from purchasing voting machines which are less than 28 inches wide. (3) Election officials should attempt to obtain machines on which the levers can be reached from a seated position."

—Having the Department of Insurance investigate possible unequal treatment in the sale of life, health and auto insurance to the disabled. "Based upon such an investigation, rules—similar to those recently adopted concerning sex discrimination—can be developed to regulate the dispensing of insurance policies to the disabled," the nominee said.

—Sanctioning a regular annual conference on the disabled to provide state government with an ongoing resource into program deficiencies and problems from the perspective of disabled citizens.

Thompson said, Disabled citizens do not want sympathy. They simply want our understanding. And with that understanding should come our desire to provide the disabled with an equal opportunity to lead a normal, productive and useful life.

"They merely want their full rights of citizenship recognized so that they may live a full and productive life—something which every Illinoisian surely deserves."

Growing emphasis on SIUE research

External funding for research, training, institutional and student support programs at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville totaled $4,228,184 for the fiscal year ending June 30.

The Office of Research and Projects at the university said that, excluding a $2 million facilities grant from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for the Environmental Resources Training Center, the total is an increase of $1,217,618 or 40.4 per cent over the 1974-75 fiscal year.

The university received 97 awards, compared to 76 awards received during the previous fiscal year, making a 25 per cent increase in the number of grants or contracts funded.

The 97 extramural grants or contracts awarded to SIUE included: 41 grants or contracts for research, 35 for training, 15 for student support, and six for institutional support.

"We are encouraged by the increased research efforts of the faculty," John Rodman, director of the SIUE Office of Research and Projects, said. "The total number of research awards is an increase of more than 51 per cent above the numbers of awards received in 1974-75."

The level of research funding during the year was $473,799 and amounts to $6.7 per cent more than was received during the previous year.

This year, 202 applications were made to external agencies.

The ratio of proposals funded during the fiscal year to the number submitted during that time continues to increase, Rodman said.

For the previous year, the ratio was 40 per cent as compared to 45 per cent in 1975-76.

"This suggests that not only the quantity but also the quality of the proposals submitted by this institution has improved and we have become more competitive in seeking external support for our academic, research and service programs," Rodman said.

Major increases in external support occurred in the following units: $29,600 in the School of Humanities, $17,477 in the School of Nursing, $800,069 in the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, $78,930 in the President's Office, $95,637 in the School of Science and Technology (excluding the $2 million facilities grant), $297,267 for Special Programs and Minority Affairs and $40,526 for University Services to East St. Louis.

"We are optimistic that external support for educational and research programs will continue to increase," Rodman said.

"However, it is crucial for continued growth that research be given a high priority by SIUE and that a research atmosphere be developed on this campus," he said.

Quality research is essential in the development of academic excellence and doctoral programs, Rodman commented.

Prevent seeding to help weed control

By CHRIS DOLL
Garden Advisor

For gardening in August, cut or mow your spent corn stalks, cabbage, and bean plants, and other garden vegetation while it is still green.

1. Green organic matter decomposes much quicker than dry materials, and future gardening will be easier. It also cleans up the garden area.

2. Don't let weeds "go to seed." Lamb's quarter, pigweed, crabgrass, foxtail, purslane, and many other unwanted plants are starting to bloom, and this is followed by seed production. Weed control next year will be easier if seed formation is prevented.

3. Peach and plum trees with fruit need to be sprayed for brown rot at five to seven day intervals during the ripening period. Brown rot can infect and destroy a big percentage of fruit under hot, wet conditions. Use captan, sulfur, or benomyl (Benlate) sprays or dusts as per the directions on the label. Fruit can be harvested within 24 hours of treatment.

4. Spray other fruits and vegetables only as needed. Most of the disease infections have tapered off with the hot, dry weather. Fungicides would be needed only where disease problems threaten the crop. Most insect activity can be seen, and necessary sprays can be applied when they appear, such as cabbage worms and cucumber beetles.

5. Sow fall vegetables such as lettuce, radishes, turnips, beets, carrots, beans, mustard, spinach, Chinese cabbage in the early days of August. Fall rains and cool temperatures should make everything grow.

6. The last spray for peach borer should be made before Aug. 15. Use carbaryl (Sevin).

7. Sow a crop of rye, oats, or rye grass in abandoned garden areas for a green mulch or winter cover crop.

8. Clean up weeds in the strawberry patch and apply a DCPA (Dacthal) herbicide treatment before the fall weeds germinate.

9. Bud-graft any favorite tree fruit variety onto a stock tree of the same species to either perpetuate or increase the variety.

10. Harvest and enjoy pears, grapes, peaches, apples, and watermelons that have taken all season to mature.

Insurance proposal for police, firemen

Each year more than 200 policemen and firemen are killed in the line of duty. Yet, the men and women who form the "first line of defense" against crime and fire are not able to purchase reasonably-priced comprehensive life insurance, it has been contended in Washington.

Many of the officers are young, with growing families, but have not served long enough to be covered by any pension plan. Now, the Senate has passed 80-4 and sent to the House of Representatives the Public Safety Officers Benefits Act of 1976 (H.R. 366) to provide the type and character of security said to be needed by public safety officers.

The bill would provide $50,000 to the survivor(s) of policemen, firemen and court officers killed in the line of duty.

In addition, the bill would set up a nationwide program of life insurance to cover any accidental death or dismemberment for these officers.

The federal government, through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA), would buy a national group policy from a private insurance agency. The latter would then administer the policy.

Officers wishing to participate in the insurance program would pay two-thirds of the total cost of their premiums. One-third would be paid by LEAA.

An additional provision recognizes that private citizens can also suffer great financial difficulties as a direct result of violent crimes. This provision would establish a Violent Crimes Reimbursement Board to aid victims of such violent crimes as interstate kidnapping or bank robbery.

Additionally, victims of violent crimes within the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal government—such as military installations, national parks or Indian reservations—would be eligible for compensation.

It is intended that the board would become a model for states wishing to establish a system designed to compensate victims of violent state crimes, such as assaults and muggings. Some states, such as Illinois, already have programs to aid crime victims.

Under this section of the federal bill, payments to the victim or his survivors would be based on the anticipated loss of future earnings or loss of support and would not be made for more than $50,000.

Payments would be from the Criminal Victim Indemnity Fund, a fund to be supported by federal criminal court fines, withholding from U.S. prisoners' wages, federal appropriations and donations.

MR. AND MRS. PETE KOSTECKI who exchanged wedding vows at St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church in Venice. Formerly Miss Christine M. Scaturro, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Scaturro, 1305 Robin St., Venice.

Christine Scaturro wed in candlelight ceremony

The wedding of Miss Christine M. Scaturro, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Scaturro, 1305 Robin St., Venice, and Pete R. Kosteck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Kosteck, 800 Lee Ave., Madison, was solemnized at 4:30 p.m. on July 17 at St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church.

Bouquets of apricot carnations, baby's breath and greenery decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. John O'Connell.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length white organza gown designed with an oval neckline edged in tiny gathered Chantilly lace and long sheer sleeves cuffed with a lace band.

Matching lace accented the Empire bodice and extended down the skirt front to create a semi-apron effect. The wattleau train was bordered with a lace ruffle.

She chose a mantilla veil edged with scallop lace and held a colonial bouquet of cymbidium orchids encircled with garland of greenery.

A sister of the bride, Miss Kathy Scaturro, served as maid of honor with bridesmaids Miss Marie Kosteck, Mrs. John Culbert, both sisters of the groom and Misses Teresa and Carol Scaturro, also sisters of the bride.

They were gown in formal apricot polyester dresses trimmed with white lace at the high neckline, Empire waistline and on the full sleeves.

Each attendant carried a nosegay of variegated orange and apricot colored carnations intermingled with baby's breath.

The flower girl, Linda Kuberski, the groom's cousin, wore an apricot frock identical to the adult attendants and she carried a basket of orange blossoms.

John Kamadulski, a stepbrother of the groom, was the ringbearer.

Attending the groom as best man was Phil Barnett, Don Scaturro and Dan Kosteck, brothers of the bride couple. Ken Rodgers and Russell Feltmeyer, were groomsmen.

Escorting the guests were Ted Kuberski and Joe Kosteck, a cousin of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Scaturro, selected a long apricot polyester sleeveless gown accented with white lace on the bodice and complemented with a long sleeved jacket.

Mrs. Kosteck, mother of the groom, was attired in a full length blue chiffon dress fashioned in an Empire silhouette with a high collar encircled with a border of crocheted knit and ribbon. A chiffon tier extended over the arms of the sleeveless gown and fell softly in long panels.

Both mothers wore cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held at the Croastan Home in Madison.

The bride graduated from Marquette High School and from Gradwohl School of Laboratory Technicians. She is employed as a medical technologist at the St. Louis Little Rock Hospitals Inc.

A Madison High School graduate, the groom attended Hanks Technical Institute and is enrolled at Belleville Area College. He is a patrolman for the City of Madison.

The newly married couple are now residing in Madison following a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kuberski, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Paszkewy, Vic Paszkewy and Mrs. John Kamadulski.

Birthday party honors cousins

Mr. and Mrs. David Welborn and Mr. and Mrs. Steve James entertained guests this week at a party in honor of the first birthday of their children, held at the James residence, 3213 Ridger Ave.

Cousins Ricky Welborn and Laura Kay James shared a large decorated cake topped with a circus motif at an afternoon barbecue hosted by their parents.

Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. James, Jeff Hahn, Mrs. Ada Lester, Mrs. Stephanie Hahn, Daniel James and out of town guests, Mrs. Catherine Moser of St. Louis and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moser and children Caroline, Natalie and Brian of St. Charles.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Dunnivant whose wedding took place at the Mitchell Assembly of God Church. Formerly Miss Sheree R. Buckingham, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Spray of Granite City and Rex Buckingham of Edwardsville.

Sheree Buckingham wed in afternoon ceremony

Miss Sheree R. Buckingham and Eugene E. Dunnivant exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of July 17 at the Mitchell Assembly of God Church.

The Rev. E. L. Aubuchon officiated. Organist Kay Sykes accompanied Mrs. James Mount, an aunt of the bride, as she sang "The Wedding Song," "Twelfth of Never" and The Lord's Prayer.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Spray, 2335 Lincoln Ave. and Rex Buckingham of Edwardsville. The groom is a son of Mrs. Jerry Young of Granite City and Eugene Dunnivant of Madison.

The bride selected a full length polyester gown fashioned with a Chantilly lace Empire bodice designed with an oval neckline and long full lace sleeves terminating with tightly fitted cuffs.

Her fully gathered skirt was bordered with two deep lace ruffled flounces which extended into a chapel train.

She wore a lace headpiece to secure a melody length veil and she held a cascade of white carnations, pink roses, orchid baby's breath festooned with multi color streamers.

Maid of honor Miss Sheila Buckingham, a sister of the bride, was attired in an A-line polyester orchid gown designed with an Empire bodice featuring a V-neckline and short sleeves.

She wore an orchid picture hat and carried a bouquet of white carnations and orchid baby's breath with matching streamers.

Bridesmaids, Miss Christine Skerle and Mrs. Keith Buckingham, a sister-in-law of the bride, selected identical styled gowns in pink with matching wide brimmed hats. Each held a bouquet of white carnations intermingled with pink baby's breath.

A white frock similar to the bridal gown was worn by Aimee Buckingham, who served as a maid of honor and she held a pink rose bud.

The groom chose his uncle, Richard Dunnivant as best man. Ricardo Buckingham and Gary Spray, brothers of the bride and Kenneth and Benny Dunnivant, the groom's brothers, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

A reception was held at the Mexican Honorary Commission Hall, 1801 Spruce St. Miss Leslie Spray, a sister of the bride, distributed rice packets and Miss Karen Dunnivant, the groom's cousin, presided over the guest book.

The rehearsal dinner was held in the home of the bride. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Spray wore an orchid polyester sleeveless gown created with a high neckline and complemented with a floral chiffon long sleeved jacket, and a corsage of orchid tipped carnations and baby's breath.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Young was attired in a long pink dress and Mrs. Buckingham, step-mother of the bride, chose a coral color gown. Both wore corsages of carnations in hues to match their dresses.

The bride is a Granite City High School graduate and the groom attended Madison High School. He is now employed at Landers Co., St. Louis.

They are residing in Madison.

Ex-Granite Cityans safe in Colorado flood after missing weekend trip

Mr. and Mrs. Marlow Peterson and daughters, Beth Ann and Kristin, of Greeley, Colo., formerly of Granite City, are safe from the flash flood which inundated their property on the Big Thompson River, where the family usually spends each weekend during the summer months.

The Petersons did not go to their river site the past weekend, as is their regular habit. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Peterson, 4115 Melrose Ave., a brother and sister-in-law, learned this week.

In a telephone call Monday night, the former Granite Cityans said it still was raining and the weather continued to be "pretty bad," hampering rescue efforts. They live only 10 miles from the Big Thompson Canyon area and spend most of their free time on their summer property.

The reason for the family not making its usual weekend trip was not learned, Mrs. Wayne Peterson said. The couple has many relatives and friends in the Granite City area, including Mrs. John J. (Ann) Heidenry, 2716 Iowa St., Mother of Mrs. Peterson. Beth Ann, 12, returned home to Greeley in mid-July after spending a month visiting her grandmother here. Both her parents are teachers.

Close to 30 feet of water was flowing over the Petersons' river property earlier this week. Just a few days before, a stream wide enough to jump across trickled peacefully along, it was learned.

Helicopter flights into the Rocky Mountain canyon where between 300 and 400 persons, many of them campers and tourists remain stranded, were resumed Monday afternoon during breaks in the rain and fog.

At least 55 bodies had been brought to the makeshift morgues by Monday and 20 more were found and tagged for removal inside the canyon. Dozens of other bodies probably will be discovered as the mud and debris left by the flood yields other victims, officials said this week.

The 12-to-15-foot-high wall of water swept through the Big Thompson River canyon Saturday night, obliterating communities along the winding 30-mile stretch of U.S. 34.

U.S. 34 is the only road between Loveland and Estes Park, Colo., traveling through the canyon, which is 150 yards across at its widest point. The canyon walls rise hundreds of feet above the road. The region is famous for its magnificent scenery.

Mountain homes, motels, vacation resorts, trailer camps and scores of summer cabins were washed away as the river changed its course in 30 places. About 800 persons were ferried out of the canyon by mid-afternoon Sunday and 50 per cent of these sustained some type of injury, Larimer County Sheriff Robert Watson said.

Recovery teams were sent into the canyon on foot and on horseback and in rescue vehicles, he said. Forty National Guardsmen carrying survival gear were airlifted into the canyon in groups of two and three to organize people into self-help groups, the officer said.

Officials estimated that 2,000 to 4,000 persons, not including motorists, were in the canyon when the flood hit.

A flotilla of 12 canoes manned by 28 persons representing the Iowa Department of Tourism is scheduled to arrive at the Lewis & Clark Park tomorrow morning as a step in a Bicentennial trip that eventually will end at New Orleans.

The trip is headed by Dick Ranny, director of tourism for the state of Iowa, who said the group will go to the Lewis & Clark Restaurant for lunch at 11 a.m. Friday and then return to the park for a 6:30 p.m. smorgasbord and commemoration ceremonies.

The group will continue to St. Louis Saturday for another stop and ceremonies there.

Howlett urging soil, water conservation

Michael J. Howlett, Democratic nominee for governor, has advocated that the federal government increase its share of soil and water conservation costs in Illinois.

Howlett spoke at the Illinois soil and water convention at Springfield, attended by officials of 98 soil and water conservation districts of Illinois.

He said the $2.50 ceiling on federal contributions for constructing terraces, water control structures or pasture improvements to keep sediment from washing into drainage ditches is inadequate.

"It falls far short of what it costs the farmer to take crops out of production and implement a conservation project," said Howlett. "The average federal grant is under $500."

"More can be done to preserve our environment by control of soil loss and sedimentation which affects water quality."

"The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has established a task force to study means to control erosion and pollution from agricultural runoff."

Howlett said an increase in federal cost sharing would increase conservation incentives and give cooperating farmers fairer compensation for their expense.

Noting that most soil and water conservation officials are farmers, Howlett reviewed details in his farm policy program.

He favors increasing the exemptions from inheritance taxes; continued shifting of school financing from the local property tax to the state's broader tax base; upgrading the farm-to-market road system with state help; and more reliable rail service, with more federal help to improve roadbeds and increase the availability of hopper cars at harvest time.

"We need a sensitive farm policy," he said. "No group has done more to strengthen Illinois and our nation than our farmers. Our soil is rich. It has made us the granary of the world and the number one farm export state."

Boy Scouts announce fall recruiting plan

The annual fall membership campaign in the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America, will begin Thursday, Sept. 16, when 49 Scout troops and Cub packs enroll new members.

Called "Scouting - Bridge to the Future," the Scout Council expects to give an opportunity to over 600 boys to join the Boy Scouts of America, according to Mrs. Pat Foote, school night chairman.

Special events scheduled for this fall include school night, stir the pot, camporee, Cub and Scout demonstrations, and adult training for new members.

A boy may become a Scout when he is 11 years old or has completed the fifth grade or a Cub Scout when he is 8 years old or has completed the second grade, Mrs. Foote said.

In addition to the boys who join existing packs and troops, the Cahokia Mound Membership Committee expects to organize about five new packs and troops in the Quad-City area.

The Boy Scouts of America provides a program for boys and young adults that is designed to develop desirable qualities of character; to train in the responsibilities of participating citizenship; and to develop personal fitness according to Mrs. Foote.

Cub Scouting is a family and home-centered program and Scouting is designed to achieve the BSA objectives, primarily through a vigorous outdoor program, she added.

Information about the Scout and Cub Scout program is available from the Council Service Center, 2016 Delmar Ave., or by calling 876-0688.

Firemen plan benefit car wash Aug. 14

Granite City firemen will hold their fifth annual benefit car wash Saturday, Aug. 14, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. to raise money for local charity projects.

The car wash will be held at the main fire station, 23rd Street and Madison Avenue. Donations will be $1.50 and, in past years, all of the proceeds will go to charitable projects, a department spokesman said.

RETIRED PERSONS VISIT NASHVILLE

A group of 42 members of the American Association of Retired Persons and friends returned home this week from a 3-day bus trip to Nashville, Tenn., where they toured several points of interest.

While in Nashville the group attended the Grand Ole Opry, visited the Country Music Hall of Fame and saw many homes of the country western stars.

Prices, taxes advance

New statistics covering the first half of 1976 show that earnings are 0.4 per cent lower. Real gross average weekly earnings rose 1.4 per cent, but this was more than offset by higher taxes.

In June, spendable earnings fell 0.9 per cent from the May level due to a decline in gross pay, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said this week.

Real spendable earnings are calculated by taking the average weekly pay for all production or nonsupervisory jobs, reduced by Social Security and federal income tax rates applicable to a married worker with three dependents who earned the average amount.

The figures are preliminary and cover full-time and part-time workers.

Real earnings — in constant dollars — are calculated by adjusting earnings in current dollars for changes in the Consumer Price Index.

Real gross average weekly earnings decreased from May to June after allowance for the usual seasonal variation. This was due to a 0.6 per cent decrease in average weekly hours, no change in average hourly earnings, and a 0.5 per cent increase in the Consumer Price Index.

Over the year, real average weekly earnings are up 1.4 per cent. Average hourly earnings increased 7.1 per cent and hours rose 0.3 per cent, counteracting a 5.9 per cent rise in the CPI.

Before adjustment for the increase in the price index and for seasonal change, weekly earnings were $175.81 in June, compared with $163.71 a year earlier.

The Consumer Price Index rose 0.5 per cent in June, before seasonal adjustment, to 170.1 (1967 equals 100).

The CPI rise of 0.5 per cent in June compares with an increase of 0.6 per cent in May and an average monthly increase of 0.3 per cent in the first four months of this year.

The increase in food prices of 0.2 per cent was considerably smaller than in April or May. However, prices for the energy group — including gasoline, motor oil, fuel oil, coal, natural gas, and electricity — increased much more in June than in May, 1.9 per cent compared with 1.4 per cent, accounted for almost a third of the June rise in the CPI.

The food index rose 0.2 per cent in June after seasonal adjustment, following increases of 1.0 per cent in May and 0.6 per cent in April. Although prices rose for many foods, beef and pork prices turned down in June following large increases in May. Prices for fruits and vegetables continued to decline.

Prices for eggs and coffee rose sharply for the third consecutive month, and increases for cereal and bakery products, poultry, dairy products and fats and oil products were larger.

Among other commodities, the used car index increased 0.7 per cent and apparel 0.3 per cent — both less than in May — and prices of household durables increased slightly.

The new car index declined for the first time since January, on a seasonally adjusted basis. The index for household services other than rent increased 0.7 per cent. This was more than in May and reflected sharp increases in charges for natural gas, electricity and home repair services. Charges for transportation services rose less than in May.

State okays early childhood program

The Early Childhood Certificate program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been approved by the Illinois Certification Board, according to Robert E. Rockwell, director of early childhood education at SIUE.

The certificate is applicable to both the bachelor's and master's degree programs. "We are really happy that both these programs were approved," Rockwell said. "It makes SIUE the only school in the metropolitan area offering such a certified program at the master's level."

Elementary teachers wanting to "retool" on child development methods and techniques from infancy through grade three will have an opportunity to study at the graduate level according to Rockwell. This would save them from returning to school to obtain a certificate at the bachelor's level.

The master's program is a multi-disciplinary program involving elementary education, psychology, speech pathology and special education. A workshop, "Child, Family and Community Relations" will be offered at the SIUE East St. Louis Center, Aug. 9-20 in the afternoon. Teaching the course will be Ruth Cook, associate professor of education.

It can be taken for either undergraduate or graduate credit. Students may register on the first day of class.

Lloyd McBride, two others seek to head Steelworkers

Wall Street Journal—The race to succeed W. Abel as president of the United Steelworkers of America is beginning to take shape, and it promises to be the most heated — and potentially divisive — USW election in recent years.

Vice President John S. Johns and St. Louis district director Lloyd McBride, both friendly to Mr. Abel, are already candidates competing for the support of what is often termed the USW "official family," an informal fraternity of top union officials and staff representatives.

Challenging the "official family" from outside, young Chicago-area district director Edward Sadowski is gathering a campaign staff and is considered practically certain to announce his candidacy soon.

Already, at steel plants across the country, Mr. Sadowski's supporters are distributing handbills blasting Mr. Abel's policies.

Last week, in an ominous portent, one Sadowski backer was wounded in the neck by a rifle shot while he was passing out handbills at a Houston plant. The election would take place until Feb. 8, with nomination of each candidate by about 150 union locals required by Dec. 8.

But early skirmishing in the three-way political battle is causing some consternation among top leaders of the 1.4 million-member union, which has prided itself on unity and careful representation of the membership's interests under Mr. Abel's leadership.

Mr. Abel, 67 years old, will retire next year because of age. Top union officials are pushing for a single establishment slate to counter the expected Sadowski challenge and to sustain Mr. Abel's policies, including the union's 1973 pledge to forego industry-wide strikes in favor of arbitration under the experimental negotiating agreement.

Playing upon the unity theme, the official announcement of Mr. Johns' candidacy Thursday was accompanied by a statement that he will have backing of a "union committee" composed of 18 of the union's 24 district directors.

But Mr. McBride, who declared his candidacy over a year ago, disputed Mr. Johns' claim of unified support. "I can't accept the figure of 18 supporting Johnny," Mr. McBride said, noting that his slate has already received tentative pledges of support from a number of district directors, including some on the union committee, representing between 600,000 and 700,000 USW members.

Another clue that Mr. Johns hasn't yet won the full backing of the official family is his inability to put together a full slate.

Although William Moran, Bethlehem, Pa., district director, will campaign for secretary-treasurer on the Johns ticket, Mr. Johns was unable to convince Howard Strevell, popular director of the union's Birmingham, Ala., district, to fill the vice-presidential slot.

That spot remains unfilled, with Mr. Johns and Mr. Moran reportedly considering several candidates.

Mr. Strevell's refusal to join the Johns-Moran ticket was a serious setback, but Mr. Moran claimed Thursday that Mr. Strevell had declined solely for "personal reasons" and would campaign for the ticket.

Mr. Strevell, however, said Friday that he hasn't yet decided to endorse either of the rival establishment slates.

"I'm still hopeful that people will show good sense and get together" on a single slate, Mr. Strevell said.

If a single "unity" slate is to be arranged and harmony restored to the official family, Mr. Abel may have to intervene personally.

So far, he has remained officially neutral on the election, but union sources predicted that Mr. Johns' announcement, adding a second pro-administration slate, might force Mr. Abel to break his silence and declare a preference — or arrange a compromise acceptable to both slates.

One rumored compromise would involve expanding the number of executive posts. This would require approval at the union's constitutional convention, beginning late this month in Las Vegas.

Union sources noted, however, that earlier efforts at compromise have proven unsuccessful.

Early this year, they say, the union committee of directors held several discussions with Mr. McBride to see whether he might alter his slate or make other accommodations.

Mr. McBride, who already had pledged to support Toronto-based director Lynn R. Williams for vice president and Los Angeles-based director Frank S. McKee for secretary-treasurer, reportedly declined to consider any changes.

The so-far unsuccessful search for unity has preoccupied union leaders this year chiefly because of the expected challenge from the mercantile, 38-year-old Mr. Sadowski.

Ever since November 1974, when he bested incumbent Strevell and became director of the union's largest district, there has been talk of a Sadowski presidential bid.

Since taking office, Mr. Sadowski has disdained the union hierarchy, claiming that Mr. McBride is not even a "child."

The disdain is reciprocated by most members of the Abel administration who view Mr. Sadowski as a threat to the union's stability and gains in the 11 years since Mr. Abel replaced David J. McDonald as president.

But Mr. Sadowski has persisted, criticizing Mr. Abel and his supporters for what he sees as the union's acceptance of the philosophy and goals of steel industry management.

Calling for rank-and-file ratification of contracts, and using other perennially popular issues such as opposition to increases in union dues, he has succeeded in building a network of political support through his organization, Steelworkers Fight Back.

He is also amassing a sizable campaign fund, and dispatching literature and supporters to plants around the country.

A dismaying sign that the campaign ahead may prove a rough one came last week when Ben Corum, a USW member from Mr. Sadowski's district, was shot through the neck while distributing anti-Abel leaflets at a Hughes Tool Co. plant in Houston.

Mr. Corum, since released from the hospital, had traveled to Texas with several other Chicago-area steelworkers to rally rank-and-file support for the Steelworkers Fight Back campaign.

The shooting — by three men in cowboy hats driving a late model car, according to an eyewitness — followed earlier reports of assault or threatened assault against the pro-Sadowski leaflet distributors at two other Houston-area plants.

No suspects have been charged yet in the shooting, but the Federal Bureau of Investigation and local police say investigations are continuing.

The union, "deploring" the incident, has said it will undertake its own investigation. Mr. Corum, who survived the incident without permanent injury, says he plans to continue working for Mr. Sadowski.

Police seek vandal

Police are searching for a man who made death threats against a truck driver at Tarpoft Meat Packing Co., 1428 Edwardsville Road, about 4:50 p.m. Monday and is believed to have broken four glass blocks in the front of the company's building Monday night.

Authorities were told a man about 20 to 25 years of age was talking to a Tarpoft driver and became loud and abusive. The man had an iron bar in his hands and threatened the driver's life.

Police arrived, but were unable to locate him. At 7:10 a.m. Tuesday, Tarpoft officials discovered the glass blocks had been broken.

The man had long blond hair and an injury to his left elbow. He wore a suede jacket, officials were told.

CAR OVERTURNS

Robert Moulton, 25, Granite City, was injured when his auto struck a guy wire to a utility pole and overturned on the curve at 18th and Benton streets at 12:50 a.m. Tuesday. Moulton went to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where he was treated for a stiff back and was released.

Faster tax remittance to and from county is urged; legal action could reduce amount of taxes withheld

Text of comments on Madison County governmental revenue procedures, contained in the 1976 county audit report of R. C. Scheffel and Company, certified public accountants:

1. "The county does not maintain a complete fixed asset group of accounts. We recommend that proper accounting controls be established and maintained over all fixed assets of the county."

2. "Amounts received by the offices of the county clerk, treasurer and recorder — through budgetary expenditures which were in excess of actual expenditures and later returned to the county revenue fund — were not credited to the applicable budgetary expense accounts as of the county year-end. We recommend that this be done at the end of each year."

3. "The final distribution of the 1974 tax levy had not been made at the date of this report. The final 1973 tax levy distribution was not made until late June 1975. In previous recent years, such final distributions were made in March. But problems in the accumulation of the necessary information caused the late distributions in 1975 and 1976."

4. "The tax monies collected by banks were of significant amounts — one bank's collector's account averaged nearly $2,700,000 over a 78-day period — and if these monies were remitted to the county more rapidly it would result in either faster tax distribution or considerably increased income from investment of such monies."

5. "The average investment in U.S. Treasury bills from tax collection funds from 1975, 1976, to April 30, 1976, was approximately $4,800,000. It would be desirable to distribute such amounts more rapidly."

6. "The tax liabilities of the protest tax and protest escrow funds were again not routinely balanced. We suggest that these funds and liabilities be balanced monthly by the use of formal receipts and disbursements journals and general ledgers."

7. "Records of the delinquent tax department should be improved by the following measures:

A. "Transfer old partial payments of delinquent personal property to the regular tax collection account."

B. "Regularly add and balance the liabilities for all payments, including partial payments, to the general ledger liability account."

C. "Make routine bank deposits the day after cash is received."

D. "There is no accounting control over unpaid taxes. We again recommend that data processing equipment be utilized to maintain such control over all delinquent taxes."

8. "The collector's accounts include taxes protested and other was withheld from distribution, which have increased substantially in amount in the past few years. We recommend that legal attention be given to the various types of such taxes held, including court action if necessary, to reduce the accounts held."

"Only one item of the regular tax protests was disbursed by court order between March 31, 1975, and March 31, 1976; the tax protests held in this fund date back to the 1956 levy. The legal attention we recommend includes immediate action on the large and increasing number of these tax protests."

"These suggestions should not be considered all-inclusive, since the scope of our engagement did not include a detailed analysis of all the systems and procedures employed by the county. We do, however, believe that they merit consideration, and they are presented with the intent of assisting the County Board and county officials in efficiently and effectively administering the affairs of the county."

Battle of ballots — and courts — in Illinois governor race

"We plan to run like we're 16 points down," James Thompson, Republican nominee for governor, told 450 Madison County residents at a campaign fund dinner July 29 at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant. Polls show him even or ahead, and he is now being aided by litigation plans that have his target Democratic governor nominee Michael Howlett.

It is being widely said that neither party will sweep all five statewide offices. Favorites include Alan Dixon (D) for secretary of state, Comptroller George Lindberg (R) and Attorney General William Scott (R).

The paired governor and lieutenant governor races are "up for grabs," and former U. S. Attorney Thompson is doing all he can to contrast his "Mr. Clean" image with what he regards as a less dazzling record by Secretary of State Howlett. The latter stresses his effectiveness as an efficient and efficient governmental administrator.

Chosen by Scott for the task, Marvin Burt of Freeport in a 41-page report July 20 said there was a potential conflict of interest from September 1973 until February 1976; Howlett was a $15,000 yearly consultant for Sun Steel, his former employer, and as secretary of state served on the Illinois Vehicle Recycling Board.

Although Burt publicly called Howlett "clean as a hound's tooth," Scott quickly named Samuel Witwer, 1970 Illinois Constitutional Convention president, to sue Howlett in an effort to recover $34,000. The recycling board had a fund of several million dollars to use in providing subsidies for the collection of abandoned autos. Some Sun Steel subsidiaries are involved in scrap iron processing, although none is believed to have dealt directly with removal or destruction of junk cars.

Burt, a former Illinois Supreme Court justice, said Howlett did nothing in his capacity as a state official to help Sun Steel or its affiliates in dealing with any unit of government.

Burt concluded there was "an appearance of impropriety," however, and it will be up to the courts — and voters — to decide whether such a theoretical offense was an actual cause for reimbursement of part of Howlett's state salary. The Democratic senate candidate, saying that he is now a 36-year-old mother to support, promised to resist efforts to require him to pay any money.

Suit was filed July 29 against Burt, a Freeport attorney, seeking to order Scott to investigate an alleged insurance conflict by his appointee and to initiate a civil suit against Burt.

The suit by Alfred Wieher says that throughout a 16-year legislative tenure Burt was counsel, secretary and a director of a life insurance company, and that he simultaneously served as House Insurance Committee chairman and then as a member of a similar panel in the Illinois senate. The suit against Burt "ridiculous" and calls that any suit against Howlett is "wrong." Burt, of course, isn't on the state ballot so the impact of court arguments between now and November could have a bigger impact on Howlett than anyone else. Howlett wants quick court action on the scrap metal topic; Burt urged delay until other conflict rulings.

A skilled legal debater who has had more luck than Howlett in shedding pounds and his former chubby appearance, Thompson is calling attention to the alleged conflict but is centering his heaviest fire on the lack of campaign debates.

On the day Thompson campaigned here, Hy Raskin, Howlett campaign manager, said he expects "there will be no debates because debates in a race for governor only prove who the best debater is."

Thompson responded by accusing Howlett of dodging issues and questions and of taking "at least four different positions" on the level of future taxes.

Quite a battle of the ballot box — and the courtroom — is shaping up in Illinois.

Favor repeal of special district law

To the Editor:

We have sent letters to State Senator Sam Vadalabene, State Representatives Sam and Joe Lucco, Illinois state candidates Michael Howlett, Neil Hartigan, Cecil Parize, Alan Dixon and Michael Bakula, Congressman Melvin Price and Jimmy Carter, Democratic Presidential nominee.

We are asking them to use their influence in repealing the law which allows formation of special tax districts without referendum.

The use of special tax districts has raised a furor in Madison County. Residents opposing the districts feel the law is a "backdoor" exaction without representation.

The law requires petitions signed by 51 per cent of the land owners and registered voters to defeat special tax districts.

We feel the officials and candidates will be sympathetic to repeal of the law because the ground that it takes certain rights away from citizens.

Truck crackdown

By JOAN MURARO
SPRINGFIELD — Highway cops don't care who uses them — they'll wear out just as fast from the out-of-state trucker's rig as from use by the Illinois-based vehicle.

To be sure the non-resident trucker pays his share of the road deterioration, Illinois, like a number of other states, has a prorated reciprocity policy which requires payment to the state in proportion to miles driven.

The state also requires trucks to have either license plates or decals showing they have paid their share — plates let them operate either through or within the state, while the decal prohibits strictly intra-state hauling.

In the last three years, tighter enforcement of those two requirements has met almost $12 million to Illinois.

The reciprocity prorates audit division in the office of Secretary of State's investigators. Howlett is responsible for verifying that out-of-state truckers' applications correctly reflect the number of miles driven on Illinois roads during a previous 12-month period which includes the last four months of one year and the first eight months of the next.

State truckers pay for their Illinois road use after the fact, it is possible to learn exactly, by checking their own books, just how many miles each unit drove, how many of those were in Illinois and whether violations of the licensing agreement occurred.

For the four calendar years, 1969 through 1972, the division's records indicate a total of $543,601 was collected. For the calendar period starting in 1973 when Howlett took office, through May of this year, the division has collected $2,171,382.

During the same three-year period, by intensifying and broadening the training of the Secretary of State's investigators, the state has collected almost $10 million more by forcing improperly licensed or incorrectly registered truckers to ante up and conform.

A spokesman in the secretary's office said that track-down (which incidentally on several occasions also has recovered a stolen truck) brought in $1,116,187 in 1973; $3,647,970 in 1974 and $2,916,473 in 1975.

A. Kenneth Ramin, administrator of the reciprocity-prorate audit division, credits Howlett with the change of policy which now sends Ramin, a working administrator, and his staff of 12 auditors, all over the country to check the books of major carriers. In recent months they have been as far away as New York, Oregon and Florida.

On the latter audit, the team needed two weeks to go over the books of a major hauler who also does a flourishing business in lease and rental units numbering in the tens of thousands. Though the firm already had paid Illinois nearly $140,000 on a basis of its own application figures, it probably will owe the state about $5,500 more.

Getting that additional money for the Illinois road fund won't cost the state anything. When an audit shows additional funds are due the state, the hauler must pay the costs of the audit, which can be several thousand dollars. Overall, about 62 per cent of the total audit costs are recovered by assessments on carriers, Ramin says.

While one wouldn't expect a welcome mat for anyone who's seeking to collect additional large sums from you, Ramin says he and his teams usually get good cooperation.

"After all, sometimes we find they have a refund coming," he says.

He credits the operation with being the "most comprehensive audit staff in the U.S." and can produce written evidence, in addition to the money they collect, that they're doing something right.

Federal spending likely to increase

National Review — Jimmy Carter's attacks on Washington as the home of all that is "bloated," "wasteful" and "unmanageable" have scored well with the public and caused Washington's liberal Establishment to shudder uncontrollably. Wondering whether Jimmy Carter the campaigner is an accurate preview of Carter the President, Wall Street Journal reporter James P. Gannon examined Carter's record and found that the Washington Establishment has nothing to fear.

There would be some reorganization, says Gannon, but "the bureaucracy would be working overtime to carry out Mr. Carter's big ideas: a sweeping, soak-the-rich tax changes; a new national welfare system; a comprehensive health care program; an enlarged federal education plan; a strong registration plan; and a job-creation program."

Carter, a brilliant politician, has perceived the electorate's anti-Washington mood and has built his campaign around it, carefully camouflaging his own deep faith in the federal government.

But when asked, Carter admitted he isn't planning a reduction in overall spending. "A reduction in the bureaucracy doesn't necessarily mean a total reduction in personnel."

Instead, Carter would implement "a shifting of personnel" in hopes of greater economy.

During his four years as governor of Georgia, Carter consolidated 390 boards and bureaus into 22 new agencies — and increased state employment 20 per cent. The state budget increased 61 per cent during his reign.

Carter has let it be known that upon his inauguration he plans to concentrate his attention on unemployment and would "take my chances with inflation, if I have to."

He favors "truly progressive tax rates" with a minimum of tax incentives or loopholes.

Nor should liberals have any serious quarrel with the Carter foreign policy. While the ex-Navy man would build a few more ships, he would also gradually withdraw all U.S. troops from South Korea and other Asian bases.

He would not have intervened in Angola and would not send U.S. troops to defend Israel.

He opposes U.S. involvement in any foreign war "unless our nation is endangered." McGovernism with a drawl.

Basic changes could save Social Security

By RICHARD L. LESHER
President
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

Suppose I said that we can solve the financial problems of the Social Security system by reducing the present benefits, without dipping into general revenues, and without drastically increasing the wage base or the tax rate?

Sound too good to be true? It is true, if we act soon. To see why, one needs to know a little about the nature of the problem.

Right now, Social Security is on a collision course with disaster. The system is piling up a deficit that will grow to more than $2 trillion in 75 years, if present trends continue.

Actuaries differ over whether the deficit projection should be $2 trillion or $2.6 trillion, or even more. But what's a few billion among friends?

Part of the reason for this "slight" imbalance is the century of past population forecasts.

Ten years ago, experts failed to foresee the "baby bust" that has sharply reduced our rate of population growth. Consequently, there will be fewer workers in the future to support a larger number of retiring elders.

But a much bigger part of the problem is the changes in benefits embodied in the Social Security amendments of 1972. Thanks to these changes, the amount of benefits a Social Security participant is entitled to receive increases steadily in two ways.

First, the benefit level is pegged to earnings while working. The more you make up to the cutoff point, the greater your benefits at retirement.

Second, the amount of the benefit is pegged to the cost of living (inflation). The more prices go up, the more the benefits go up, for both present retirees and future retirees.

Sounds reasonable, right? The trouble is, when you put these two innocent-sounding provisions together in an inflationary economy, the long-term result is a pension system in which the government must pay out more than it takes in (or pay for).

As things now stand, eventually a low-income earner can wind up with retirement benefits for himself and his wife equal to 178 per cent of his pre-retirement pay. In other words, we will be retiring people at more than they made while they were working.

It doesn't take a Scrooge to see that this is a level of generosity that society cannot afford and should not promise.

What's the solution? Simply end the "double indexing" of benefits.

That is, let benefits continue to rise with increases in the cost of living — which protects recipients against inflation — but hold the line on further increases based on increases in wage levels.

If such a system were adopted, people would be able to retire the future at the same relative standard of living as those retiring now.

Present benefit recipients would experience no cut in benefits. Indeed, their benefits would continue to rise to keep pace with inflation. And workers and employers would not face ruinous increases in the Social Security tax.

There are other problems with the Social Security system — problems of equity that will have to be worked out eventually.

But the solutions to many of these other problems are costly, which means that they are likely to be resolved while the system as presently constituted is facing a snowballing deficit.

Lofly state salaries

By BOB ESTILL
SPRINGFIELD — Woodward and Bernstein aren't the only ones who provide news by poking around in the mud.

The two state agencies with the highest average salaries are the Department of the Budget, which has the highest average salary of $18,567. That comes to $255,000 for 46 employees, with 28 administrative positions taking $658,600.

The Board of the Budget, the Institute for Environmental Quality, the Department of Business and Economic Development, the Civil Service Commission, the Human Relations Commission, the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, and the Illinois Energy Agency all have annual average salaries in the $15,000 to $18,000 range proposed for fiscal 1977.

The State Fair Agency, incidentally, is one of the lowest in terms of average salaries. The State Board of Higher Education is a close third with a proposed average salary of $15,587. That comes to $255,000 for 46 employees, with 28 administrative positions taking $658,600.

The closest competition is the Governor's Office of Special Investigations, where the proposed average salary is $18,567 annually.

But before reporters, lawyers and other would-be investigators begin to stampee those offices, they should be noted one reason why the average is so high is because they employ so few.

The average salary per man year is determined by dividing the total budgeted for salaries by the number of positions to be filled.

And the Judicial Inquiry Board is one of the smallest, if not the smallest, agencies of state government. It has a proposed budget of $97,968 for salaries and four full-time positions and one half-time job.

There is a similar situation in OSI where the $335,706 proposed for fiscal 1977 goes for the salaries of 18 employees. The salaries proposed for investigators range from a low of $11,940 to a high of $31,068.

GC teachers rehired as school opening nears

Ten more of the 61 teachers honorably dismissed by the Granite City Board of Education at the close of school last year were rehired by the board Tuesday night, bringing the total number rehired to 52. The nine who have not been rehired either have taken other jobs or were not certified to teach in areas where the district needs a teacher this year, administrators explained.

The board also hired seven new teachers to fill vacancies for the upcoming school year. Teachers rehired who will go on tenure this year were: Katherine Clay, 2560 Lynch Ave., lower and middle primary teacher at Johnson School; Beverly Frazier, 2126 Garfield Ave., science teacher at Granite City High School South; Lucille Friederich, 2138 Clark Ave., lower primary teacher at Logan School; and Donald Voeth, 3321 Wabash Ave., math teacher at GCHS South.

Hired for one year only were: Barbara Blattner, 100 Briarhaven, resource teacher in special education for Mitchell School; Karen Cline, 3801 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, upper intermediate teacher at Marshall School; Kathy Gregg, Rural Two, Box 907, upper primary at Parkway; Alicia Hendrickson, 2123 Gillespie St., Madison, vocal music at Prather Junior High; and Deborah Holt, 2234 Emert St., health at GCHS North and Coolidge Junior High.

Also, Carol Lichter, Flora, home economics at GCHS South; Karen Meng, 3250 Kilarney Drive, upper primary at Niedringhaus; Laura Nollman, Belleville, instrumental music at Coolidge Junior High; Debra Wofford, 13490 Rock Road, lower and middle intermediate at Stallings; Shirley Blasingame, 2117 Richmond, learning center at Maryville; Betty Hicks, 197 Sunny Shores, math at Prather; Nancy Polson, 3125 Ash Ave., art at Prather; and Terry Tessary, 1827 Spring Ave., driver education at GCHS North.

The board also named Bryan Wilkinson, former head basketball coach at GCHS South, to serve as athletic coordinator for the boys' physical education program at GCHS North.

Sharon Bloodworth was named to head the girls' field hockey, volleyball and track squads at North with Judy Ward serving as girls' tennis coach at the same school. Both are extracurricular assignments.

The board also named Steve Brown to serve as head of the vocational education department at South.

A leave of absence also was granted to Marguerite Roady, upper primary teacher at Stallings.

THEFT FROM AUTO

A combination stereo-radio, a black tape case and 24 tape recordings were stolen from the car of Austin Lamkin, 3028 Dale Ave., parked at his home between 11 p.m. Monday and 1 p.m. Tuesday. There were no signs of forced entry and a coat hanger was believed used to unlock a door.

Madison man bitten by poisonous snake at lake

Larry Webb, 30, of 1519 Second St., Madison, is expected to be released from the Centerville Township Hospital this week after undergoing treatment for a poisonous snake bite suffered while walking in a weeded area along Horseshoe Lake near Bend Road on July 30.

Mrs. Ica Webb, mother of the injured man, said physicians at the hospital attributed her son's recovery to quick action by her grandson, and Webb's nephew, Joseph Lindsey, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lindsey, 722 State St.

Mrs. Webb said her grandson used his hunting knife to cut open the puncture wound inflicted on her son's right leg to drain the blood and poison from around the bite.

While neither her son nor her grandson saw the snake, physicians said the wound definitely was a snake bite and that from its affect on Webb the snake was a poisonous one, possibly a water moccasin or copperhead, Mrs. Webb said.

Young Lindsey, after cutting open the puncture wound, ran to Route 202, which was about a block from where the bite was inflicted, flagged down a car and asked the driver to take him to the hospital.

"We don't know who the driver was, but we certainly would like to thank him," Mrs. Webb said. She said the motorist took her son to St. Elizabeth Hospital from where he was transferred to the Centerville hospital.

Bids called for Chouteau hall

The Chouteau Town Board of Auditors and the township's Community Development Committee in a joint meeting Monday night authorized the release of specifications for construction of a new town hall and community center building to contractors for bidding.

The bids on construction, heating, ventilation, plumbing and electrical work will be opened Thursday, Aug. 24, at the township offices at 825 Thorngate Drive, Mitchell.

At Monday night's meeting, the town board signed contracts with the Madison County Community Development office for the use of CD grant funds to construct the community center portion of the building.

Federal revenue sharing grants are being used to finance the town hall portion and the building will be constructed at no direct cost to the taxpayers.

Funds are insufficient, however, to also purchase furnishings for the community center, so a special Bicentennial committee, chaired by Betty Lavelle, is accepting contributions for the furnishings.

Mrs. Lavelle reported at the meeting that volunteers were having difficulty obtaining contributions or pledges, but she felt businesses and individuals would begin to respond once construction is actually started.

The auditors and Community Development Committee members also went over the final plans for the building with John Rapp, architect, and suggested some minor changes which Rapp incorporated in the specifications Tuesday and made the final specifications available to bidders yesterday.

Specifications are available at the township offices or from Rapp in Alton.

Endorse Air Force transfer

St. Clair County Board Chairman Victor Canty has announced that the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has reaffirmed its position in support of the transfer of personnel from Richards-Gebaur and Langley Air Force Bases to Scott Air Force Base, Belleville.

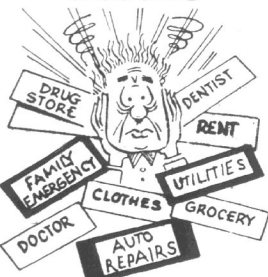

Canty, a member of the Gateway board of directors, noted that the board plans to review the draft environmental impact statement submitted by the Department of the Air Force at the next regular Gateway meeting Aug. 25.

The proposed move involves relocation of 2,940 military and civilian positions to the Belleville base.

Graduate student proves women can compete in scientific fields

By Annice Brave

Not too long ago, people thought women shouldn't bother their "pretty little heads" with subjects like math or science. But women like Gail Keefe of Wood River are proving that not only can women compete on an equal basis in tough scientific fields such as physics, they can excel.

Gail is currently doing her research work in physics toward a master's degree from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She has just accepted a job with Monsanto Company's Semi-Conductor Division at St. Peters, Mo. The division is concerned with large-scale production of single crystal silicon.

Part of the reason Gail got her new job is because of the research she is doing at SIUE under the direction of Tom Baldwin, professor of physics. Professor Baldwin received a grant from the National Science Foundation in solid state physics to study defects in silicon and germanium crystals.

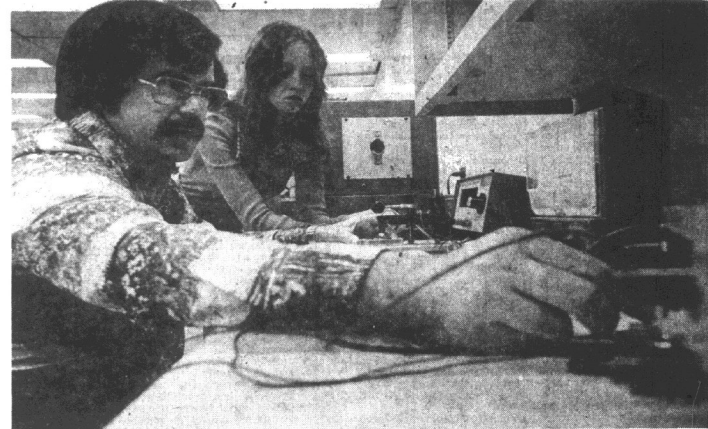

Silicon chips are important to industry because they are the basic elements of miniaturization in computers. Such things as tiny pocket calculators and other solid state computers use silicon or "computer chips." Thousands of circuits are printed on these chips.

As a materials science process engineer at Monsanto, Gail will be interested in keeping the silicon produced at Monsanto as pure as possible. This is important to industry since high quality silicon is needed for these miniature computers.

The experiments done at SIUE on silicon coated with lithium will help scientists discover impurities in the material and develop better production methods. One common impurity is oxygen. Since lithium combines easily with oxygen, the lithium atoms act like a bloodhound, tracking down oxygen in test samples.

With the aid of an electron microscope at the SIUE School of Dental Medicine, Gail looks for clusters of lithium which help her determine how much oxygen is present in the sample. The fewer clusters observed in a sample, the purer the silicon is.

After Gail finished her B.S. degree in physics at SIUE, she chose to work with Baldwin on his

HELPING HAND FOR PHYSICS PROF. Tom Baldwin, professor of physics at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, gets a helping hand from graduate student Gail Keefe as he works with a digital multimeter in a physics laboratory. This piece of equipment measures the electrical resistance of a silicon sample.

project. She has enjoyed her time at SIUE and the opportunity to work with important research. But she is also looking forward to her new career.

"It is exactly what I wanted to do," she said. "Through school, it was my goal to work in industry. It is nice to see physics applied rather than just in books."

Gail, the daughter of Robert and Alta Keefe of Wood River, has seen her education turn into a family affair at SIUE. Her sisters, Linda McBrien of Edwardsville and Julie, of Wood River, are also attending SIUE. Linda is majoring in business and computer science, and Julie will probably major in anthropology.

Even though physics could be called Gail's first love, she became acquainted with another love at SIUE. Phil Fraundorf of Madison, a former graduate student at SIUE, is now working on his Ph.D. in space physics at Washington University.

In a way, the very unromantic electron microscope at the dental school brought the two physicists together. Gail, who now spends many hours a week bent over the microscope, has followed in her fiancé's footsteps. Phil did the first electron microscopy work in physics at the University.

FROM OUTER SPACE? This may look like a distant galaxy or solar system, but it is a lithium cluster in a silicon sample. Gail Keefe, a graduate student in physics, looks for clusters like this through the electron microscope at the SIUE School of Dental Medicine. She says it would take 50,000 of these lithium clusters side by side to be one inch long.

Right-of-way problem delays Maryville Rd.

Granite City has struck a snag in its right-of-way program for extension of Maryville Road from Pontoon Road to Highway 162 and is expected to apply a newly-passed "quick-take" condemnation law to acquire a tract of land unless the problem is resolved quickly, the Press-Record learned today.

The tract still needed by the city to complete its right-of-way acquisition for the city's portion of the Maryville Road improvement is located immediately east of Colonial Haven Nursing Home near Del Rio Avenue.

Mayor Paul Schuler said he had been informed previously that the owners planned to contribute the needed right-of-way, causing the mayor to announce several weeks ago that all right-of-way necessary to the road improvement had been acquired.

Schuler said the tract is owned by five physicians who originally acquired the land to build a clinic. One of the physicians now has informed Schuler that he expects payment which the mayor described as excessive.

As a result, Schuler said, the city's new "quick-take" condemnation ordinance will be applied and suit filed in Circuit Court within the next few days if he does not hear from the physician with a reasonable offer.

Plans by the Madison County Highway Department to issue a bid call for the Maryville Road construction were postponed because of the development, according to David Dietzel, assistant superintendent of highways.

Mayor Schuler said he intends to act quickly to acquire the tract because of the rapid increase in construction costs. "At the present rate of inflation in the highway building industry, a month's delay in getting the project started will cost about $20,000," the mayor said. The Maryville Road project which originated ten years ago at an estimated cost of $2 million is expected now to cost about $4 million. The city's new quick-take condemnation ordinance, modeled after a state law, permits the city to acquire a tract of land needed for highway improvements in advance of court hearings to determine the value of the land and the amount to be paid the owner from whom the land is taken. Such procedure eliminates lengthy court activity which could delay the project indefinitely.

Suspect in Mitchell robbery and shooting

Granite City police Monday recovered a car which had been stolen from a Cahokia man who was tied up, robbed and shot north of Mitchell on the afternoon of July 28.

Herbert Brock Battles, the victim, is recuperating from his wounds, which included a gunshot pellet in his head.

Madison County sheriff's deputies are questioning a man who is thought to have taken the car from Battles after tying and gagging him with neckties and shooting him with a shotgun. Battles told authorities he was driving south on Route 111 at State Road 35 after picking up some personal items at the Granite City Army Installation.

While driving, he stopped to pick up a hitchhiker. He said they went south about three miles and the hitchhiker requested Battles to pull over. When Battles complied, the man got out of the car, took a shotgun out of a shopping bag and ordered Battles to drive back toward Granite City.

Investigators who questioned Battles quoted him as saying, "I must have driven around Granite City with this guy about two hours."

He said the man then had Battles drive to Oldenberg Road about three miles west of Route 162 and ordered him to take everything out of his pockets. The robber removed about $100 cash from Battles' wallet and returned the wallet.

Battles recalled then being ordered into a swampy area and struck by the assailant with the gun. Two neckties from Battles' car were used to tie his hands behind his back and to gag him and he was shot. He also was kicked several times on the ground.

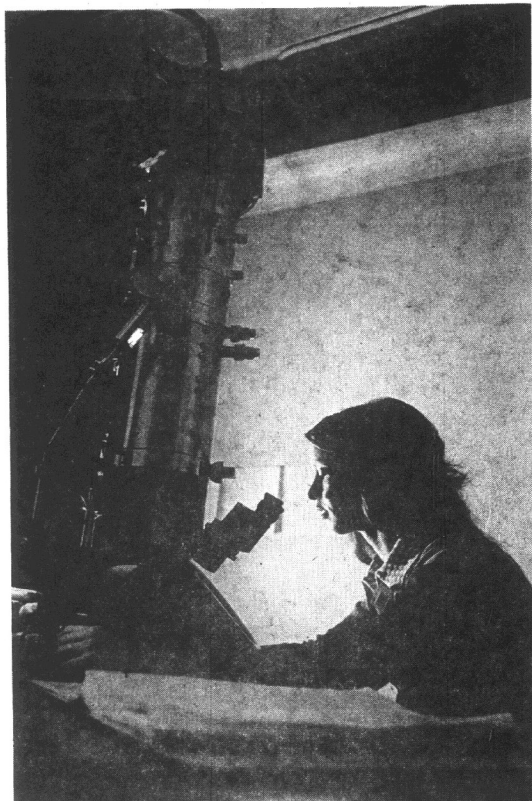

The robber then took Battles' auto and drove away.

Battles alleged the man told him while they were driving that he had a .44 magnum single-shot weapon and had only three shells.

Battles also alleged the man told him he was on parole from New York for murder and earlier had killed a deputy sheriff. Investigators say they know of no police officers being murdered and doubt the man's claims.

Battles was found bleeding profusely from wounds to the left side of his forehead. He was taken by ambulance to Wood River Township Hospital where he was admitted.

LECTURE ON ECKANKAR. The Greater St. Louis Salsang Society is sponsoring a free public lecture on the "path of total awareness" along with the film, "Eckankar, a Way of Life," Wednesday, Aug. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room, First Federal Savings, Edwardsville. Those active in the group include Ron Petras, 1730 Maple St., Granite City.

PATH TO ROMANCE. The green glow of the electron microscope at the SIUE School of Dental Medicine lights up the face of Gail Keefe of Wood River. A graduate student in physics, she is doing research on silicon crystals which may ultimately help scientist make computers even smaller. Gail met her fiancé, Phil Fraundorf of Madison, when he was doing graduate work in physics at SIUE. He did the first electron microscopy work at the university.

Steelers' grid gear is ready

Steeler football mentor Tom Wyrostek notes that playing equipment will be issued on two days, Monday, Aug. 16, and Tuesday, Aug. 17, at the GCHS North gymnasium.

Varsity equipment will be given out from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Aug. 16 and freshmen and sophomores may obtain their equipment from 6 to 8 p.m. on Aug. 17.

Wyrostek stresses that the two dates are tentative at this point, subject to possible change.

Assistant Coaches Robert Stegemeier, Walt Whitaker, Roy Logan, Dean Boren and Ron Yates will be on hand with him Wednesday, Aug. 18, at 8 a.m. for the first day of practice.

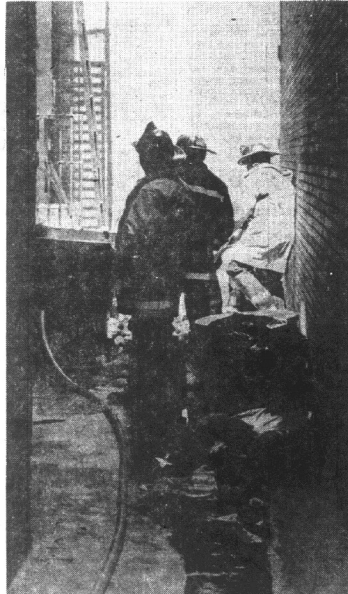

An afternoon practice session, starting at 4, also is planned.

$900 in bank bag stolen

Two bank bags, one empty and the other containing $900, were stolen from under the front seat of the car of Dave Stafford, Alton, parked behind the garage at Prairie Farms Dairy, 19th and Adams streets, between 10 a.m. and 10:15 a.m. Wednesday.

Stafford and another man with him at the time are employees of the Ponderosa Steak House, 1511 Johnson Road, and the money was to be deposited for the steak house in a bank.

Police questioned several persons near the unlocked car when the money was taken, but no arrests have been made.

DOWNTOWN FIRE behind the Tops 'N Bottoms Shop, 1343 Nineteenth St., at 11:40 a.m. Tuesday caused only minor damage as trash caught fire. The cause is not known. Granite City firemen were on the scene 15 minutes. (Press-Record Photos)

SIUE guard stabbed

County and state authorities are continuing today and investigation of an incident at 9:20 p.m. last night in which a Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville security guard, James Hasse, 29, of Fairview Heights, was stabbed in a parking lot by two assailants. Hasse, an employee at SIUE for the past four years, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where and admitted with stab wounds to the left side of his stomach, his left shoulder and left forearm.

A university spokesman said that Hasse was on foot patrol in a parking lot located about one-quarter mile east of a Mississippi River Festival concert in progress when he was stabbed. Two other patrolmen were about 50 feet away at the time of the incident.

The two men reportedly fled on foot into nearby woods, setting off a search by state police, Madison County Sheriff deputies, Edwardsville police, SIUE police, St. Louis Ka Corps and a St. Louis County helicopter which lasted nearly five hours. The search was unsuccessful.

The SIUE spokesman said the concert in which the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band was performing at the Festival was relatively peaceful and that the stabbing is not believed connected with the festival itself.

Reappoints 3 to library board

Three members of the Granite City Public Library board of trustees were reappointed by Mayor Paul Schuler Tuesday night to three-year terms.

Those appointed by the mayor are Lucille McLeod, Julie Freedman, and Ruth Lamb. Their new terms will expire June 30, 1979.

Leaves hospital to attend levee board meeting

Assignment of two regular workers to man the East Side Levee and Sanitary District pumping station at Monsanto was among routine assignments conducted by the levee board in a regular meeting at East St. Louis Wednesday, which was attended by William "Mike" Ebersold, also mayor of Venice, has been a patient in the hospital for the past week, but was permitted to attend Wednesday's levee board meeting because there presently are only three members of the board—all required to be present to constitute a quorum. Approval of the regular bi-monthly payroll and claims also was on the meeting agenda.

Ebersold returned to the hospital where he was scheduled to undergo minor surgery today.

The levee board normally has five members, but one trustee, Romel Wilson of East St. Louis, died on a vacation trip in New Orleans last summer, and another, Charles Meyers of East St. Louis, died suddenly a month ago.

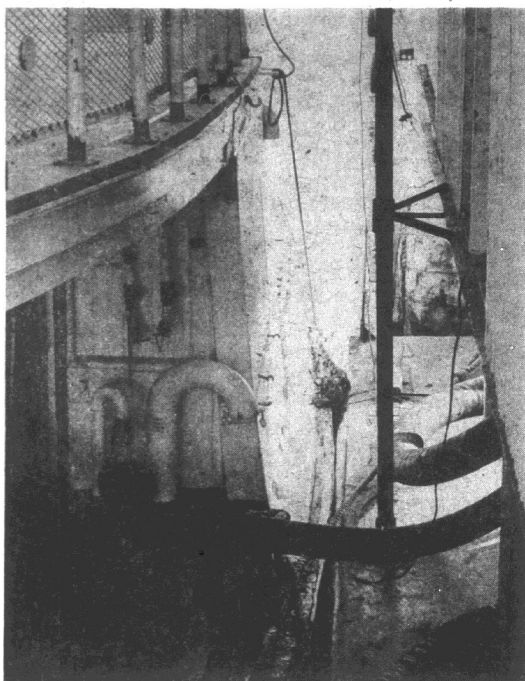

Car hits tree

Jonna Bloodworth, 18, of 2641 Angela Drive, was injured when her auto went out of control at Wabash Avenue and Lindell Boulevard and struck a tree in the yard of Sylvia Molki, 2101 Lindell Blvd., at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The driver said she was using a knob mounted on the steering wheel to turn the corner and the knob worked loose, causing her to lose control of the steering. She went to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for an injury to her right hand and she was released.

9 recovering after surgery

$13,000 state grant to county

The Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs has awarded a $13,000 comprehensive planning assistance grant to the Madison County Board. Director Frank A. Kirk has announced.

The money is part of a federal grant made to the state of Illinois by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for support of comprehensive planning activities at the state, regional and local levels.

The 12-month funding will permit the board to undertake several activities of importance to Madison County, Kirk said. The grant provides assistance to the Madison County Community Development Department to develop comprehensive planning activities related to land use and housing issues.

The funded program will be a part of the county's comprehensive community development activities and will be coordinated with related programs of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission and St. Clair County.

State police increase investigative strength

Illinois State Police has begun a project to increase its criminal investigative strength. Captain Albert J. Bertagnoli, District 11 Commander at Maryville, indicated that the program is the result, in part, of recommendations made in a management study completed in September, 1975.

The study conducted by Cresap, McCormick and Paget recommended a substantial increase in the state police investigative force to fight rural crime throughout Illinois.

Ten troopers, selected from 70 applicants from throughout the state, received special training and will spend the next few months contacting local law enforcement officials to make them aware that they are available to assist them. The program will help the state police reduce their response time when county and local departments request assistance.

According to Captain Bertagnoli, his nine-county Pesotum District in East Central Illinois were selected for the pilot project. Each will have five troopers added to the Criminal Investigation Bureau. "We are not doing anything new, we just want to be able to provide investigative service when it's asked for," Bertagnoli said.

Captain Gerald Schilling, chief of the State Police Criminal Investigation Bureau in Springfield, reports that there was a 7.1 per cent rise in rural crime rates in 1975 compared to the year before. There were 14,754 crimes committed in rural Illinois in 1975 compared to 13,776 in 1974.

"We're sure that this program will benefit the public but a shortage of manpower limits the size of the project to two districts at this time," Schilling said. "We are hopeful that as more troopers are added to the force we can expand our efforts throughout the state."

MRF crafts fair Aug. 17-18

Arts, crafts, and creations of all sorts will be exhibited at the fourth annual Mississippi River Festival Regional Craftsman Fair on Aug. 17 and 18.

The fair will be held at the festival site on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and will feature such crafts as pottery, jewelry making, leather working, blown and stained glass, and paintings in the oil, water, and acrylic media, according to Brenda Clark, graduate assistant in art at SIUE and organizer of the fair.

"There will be people representing five states at the fair," she said, "and we will also have food and refreshments and free entertainment for the people who come." The New Dinosaurs of Rome, a bluegrass group, will entertain throughout both afternoons until the scheduled MRF concert for the evening begins.

The fair will be held on the same nights as two scheduled festival concerts. Tuesday, Aug. 17, Janis Ian and special guest Michael Murphy will be performing, and on Wednesday, Aug. 18, David Crosby and Graham Nash will be on the festival stage.

Eagles Auxiliary to fete officers

The Eagles Auxiliary 1126 completed plans to honor treasurers and trustees of the Auxiliary during the month of August at a monthly business meeting conducted last week by Mrs. Ruth Paule, president.

Those to be feted are Mrs. Leona Delaloy, treasurer and Norma Hemken, Helen Lipchick and Florida Batson, trustees.

A membership application for Marlene Brandt was accepted followed by a report by Mrs. Hemken on cards sent to hospitalized members.

The president announced Sara Blagoutis, a former state president died and members agreed to send a donation to the cancer fund in her honor.

Other reports were on the Ritual Team who are attending the national convention in Florida and are competing there, and on a district meeting held in Carbondale by Mrs. Bernice Johanningeyer.

Plans were discussed in relation to a visit by two state officers on Aug. 31 at the Aerie Hall.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Billie Schuler and Catherine Kovnicka. The next session is scheduled for Aug. 10.

Area educators attend international convention

A large delegation of teachers attended the biennial convention of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, an honor society for women educators, last week.

Meeting at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn in St. Louis, almost 3,000 members from nine nations were in attendance. Members of this society include teachers from early childhood education up to professors and college presidents.

Two Beta Eta members assisting with details of the convention were Mrs. Valerie Stevens, Illinois state music chairman, and Mrs. Josephine O'Neil, Illinois state second vice-president.

The incoming international president, Mrs. Nadine M. Ewing, is from Joliet and is a past president of the state organization. She also served as the northeast regional director and as international chairman of the Leadership Development Committee.

The retiring president, Mrs. Esther H. Strickland of Columbus, Ohio, presided at the convention and emphasized the advancing role of women in education. Financial assistance has been given by the Delta Kappa Gamma Society to 88 women educators from 28 different countries so they could study in colleges and universities in Canada and the United States.

Illinois, in addition, has comprehensive scholarship program for its own state members. The international society has invested over $1 million since 1940 to advance education for women through various scholarships and fellowships. Carole Klein, author of "The Myth of the Happy Child," received the $1,000 educator award for a book which may help influence future directions in the teaching profession. Carrie A. Haynes of Los Angeles was the runnerup with her book, "Good News on Grape Street."

The majority of the Illinois delegation attended a special dinner Thursday evening at the Breckenridge Pavilion Inn, one of a few events sponsored entirely by one state.

Three chapters of Delta Kappa Gamma are located in Madison County — Beta Eta, Alpha Eta and Gamma Epsilon. Teachers from all over the county are found in all three chapters.

Heading the Beta Eta delegation was Mrs. Virginia Oran, president, and Miss Martha Massa and Mesdames Nancy Barnett, Helen Purkapple, Mary Zinkgraf, Marguerite Connolly, Dorothy Watts, Thilerna French, Virginia Wharton, Marilyn Widenor and Virginia Gillespie.

Gamma Epsilon was represented by its president, Mrs. Dorothy Roe, and Mrs. Martha Rodgers. Alpha Eta members in attendance included Mrs. Martha Moomaw, president, Mrs. Agnes Fryntko, immediate past president, and Mrs. Jennie Raffaele and Mesdames Grace Monroe, Ila Lowery, Eva McDonald, Myrtle Wunderlich, Mary Baetle, Marjorie Carter, Bertha Kuhn, Arleen Schneider and Elisabeth Miller.

Homemakers enroll 19 members

The Venice-Madison Wednesday Unit of the Madison County Homemakers Extension Association was awarded the "Traveling Silver Sugar and Creamer Set" for obtaining the most new members during the membership drive, with 19 enrolled.

"Child Abuse in America" was the local leader lesson topic for the month of June. It was presented by Chairman Mrs. Frankie M. Griggs. Each one was informed where and whom to contact when knowing of a child abuse situation. The members were served luncheon by hostesses, Mrs. Leora Howlett, Mrs. Helen R. King and Mrs. Christeen Haynes.

Mrs. Jewel Young, a member of the State Council of the University of Illinois, gave the lesson on "Planning and Using Mini Meals" for the month of July. She gave to the group many good hints and ideas on preparing and serving mini meals. The Unit held a "white elephant" sale during the meeting.

Mrs. Queen Dozier was elected as recreation chairman and Mrs. Jewel Young was elected as legislative chairman. Rosie Russell, cultural arts chairman, also attended the session.

Meetings are held the third Wednesday of each month from 7 a.m. to 12 noon at the Venice Recreation Center, 305 Broadway, Venice. New members or anyone interested is welcome and are advised to contact membership chairman for additional details by calling Mrs. Eddie Sue Jones 451-2798. The unit has 23 members including new members Mrs. Ethel A. Robinson, Mrs. Rosie E. Hill, Mrs. Olivia Jane Hodge and Mrs. Gertha Baucum. Hostesses for the month Mrs. Octavia Shade, Mrs. Jeffie Paige and Mrs. Eddie Sue Jones.

Women of Moose plan events

Women of the Moose Chapter 227 convened for a monthly business meeting at the Moose Lodge last week with Mrs. Vernie Von Nida presiding and also observed the College of Regents business night with chairman Margaret Houseman in charge.

Three applications for membership were accepted and the candidates are to be initiated at the next meeting according to Mrs. Von Nida.

Reports were read by the chapter officers and a list of charitable organizations who will receive donations from the chapter were read and approved by the group.

Plans were completed to hold a Sunday birthday pot luck dinner to celebrate members birthdays instead of the monthly birthday march.

Mrs. Shirley LeMaster announced a "kidnap breakfast party" is scheduled for a Saturday morning in September.

Mrs. Von Nida reported another interesting event in the Kitchen Band is to meet at the Moose Lodge at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 13.

During the social hour games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Von Nida, Mrs. Houseman and Mrs. LeMaster. Refreshments were served to 22 members.

Cradle shower fetes Mrs. Jane Jackstadt

For only $1.58, you can make a ten-minute Long Distance call to the farthest point in the United States.

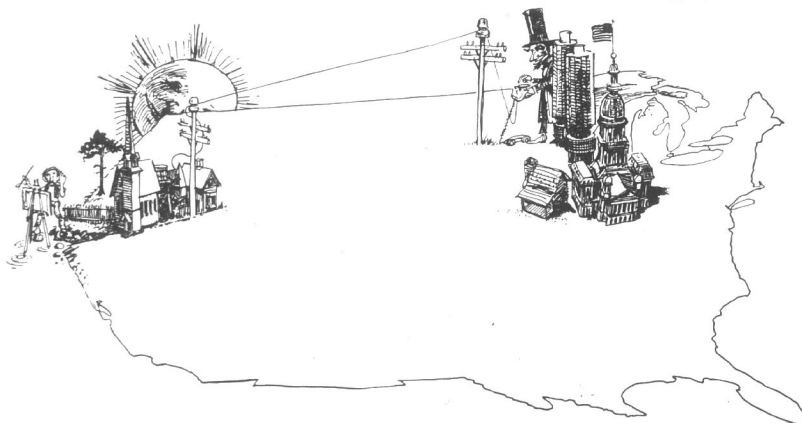

It's almost 2,000 miles from Illinois to Patrick's Point in northern California. By our calculations, it's about the farthest point from Illinois in the United States (excluding Alaska and Hawaii).

Yet for just $1.58, you can call Patrick's Point by Long Distance and talk for ten minutes.

All you have to do is dial direct. And call on the weekend—anytime Saturday or before 5 p.m. Sunday.

Now if you can make a ten-minute call as far away as Patrick's Point for only $1.58—obviously, it would cost even less to call Topeka or Pittsburgh or just about anywhere else in the U.S.

Eyes of Illinois on Hayes-Tilden election campaign a century ago

During August 1876, Illinois newspapers devoted more space to the approaching Presidential election than to any other subject.

Their interest in the national Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia was waning, but there were numerous "settlers' reunions" to take its place.

The murder of Wild Bill Hickok and early baseball strategy were among other subjects in the newspapers of a century ago in the Illinois State Historical Library.

Although the election of 1876 was more than two months away, Illinoisans were already forming Hayes-Wheeler (Republican) and Tilden-Hendricks (Democratic) clubs and holding meetings and staging parades.

Nearly all the papers at that time were partisan and reported these events in detail either favorably or unfavorably, depending on the party.

The railroads offered round-trip fares by a variety of routes to the Philadelphia exposition. Every day or so, the papers would report the names of local residents who were making the trip, but Illinoisans were not exactly traveling fast by the railroads.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean had a "Centennial Bureau" and its reporter, "Armstrong," wrote regularly on various phases of the exposition. Some of the headlines of his articles: "The Woman's Pavilion and Its Interesting and Multiform Contents," "The Centennial Employees and Their Conduct Toward Visitors," "An Impudent Set," and "The Art Collection in the Memorial and Annex Buildings."

The Rock Island Daily Union, on Aug. 31, published an article on "Centennial expenses," saying "The principal charge $4.50 or $5 per day, from that the rates run down to $2. In private boarding houses, the charges are from $5 per week and up. The meals may cost in the grounds what you please, and range from the most luxurious menu of Parisian cafes to sandwiches and coffee at ten cents each."

Among the towns holding old settlers' reunions were Petersburg (Menard County), Geneseo (Henry County) and Springfield.

The Springfield Illinois State Journal listed about 60 "old-timers" as attending the latter event. Several had arrived in the area in 1819 but the majority came there in the 1820s and '30s.

One of the speakers for this occasion was William H. "Billy" Herndon, Abraham Lincoln's last law partner.

In his speech, Herndon cited some of the changes that had come about since his arrival in 1821.

He quoted an advertisement from the Sangamo Journal of 1836 which said that a new store would "keep constantly on hand a splendid assortment of dry goods, hardware, cutlery, groceries, books, medicines, boots and shoes, harness and saddles, Queensware, glassware, nails, iron chains, etc. etc. which will be sold cheap for cash or country produce, such as beeswax, dry hides, feathers, butter, bacon, pork, etc. etc."

He then noted that "the old kind of stores are split up into specialties, where only one thing is sold, such as drugs, books, shoes." If he could come back today, he would find that the "splendid assortment" stores had returned, the Historical Library notes.

The shooting of James Butler "Wild Bill" Hickok in Deadwood, Dakota Territory, on Aug. 2 was reported by "Doc" in the Inter-Ocean of Aug. 17.

He also told of the trial and acquittal of Jack McCall, the killer, and added that "the people are determined to have no more jury trials." Hickok was born in Troy Grove, Ill.

Baseball was fairly well organized by 1876 but the game had several oddities: the first team to bat was decided by the toss of a coin and the home team decided on the ball to be used.

The Inter-Ocean reported that the Chicago White Stockings (now the Cubs) had suffered a series of defeats at St. Louis because "a dead ball, more resembling a piece of sponge than anything else, was played with" and their "superior batting strength... was wasted in vain."

On Aug. 22, the first day of the return series, "a lively ball" was used and the Whites "knocked it all over the field," winning 12-2.
